INSTITUTE FIGHTS TARIFF REDUCTION ON COTTON GOODS

Textile Group Cites Present Low Duty as Washington Studies Trade Agreement With Britain

OFFICIAL STRESSES HIGH WAGES IN U. S.

More Than 12,000,000 Dependent on Industry for Income, It Is Claimed.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—(P)—The Cotton Textile Institute, on behalf of about 1,500 cotton mills, opposed today any tariff concessions on cotton goods in the proposed reciprocal trade agreement with Great Britain.

Claudius T. Murchison, president of the institute, declared "the total number of persons dependent upon cotton as their chief source of income has been estimated at more than 12,000,000."

He informed the committee for reciprocity information that "all told, 1,600 establishments, employing 433,546 wage earners in 1935, are deeply concerned in the outcome."

Tariff Already Low.

"The present tariff on cotton goods already is a comparatively low tariff," Murchison asserted, adding, "changes in tariff rates would immediately cause unsettlement in our industry."

"Our main concern is that machinery for manufacturing cotton goods in the United Kingdom is as extensive as in this country. Furthermore, the United Kingdom is especially equipped for export trade and is today the largest exporter of cotton goods in terms of value in the world."

"Under the prevailing tariff rates cotton manufacturers seem less well protected than the products of numerous other industries," American wages in cotton mills, Murchison said, were 145 per cent higher than in Great Britain. He said American wages averaged 42 1-2 cents an hour in January, 1937, while the average hourly wage in the United Kingdom was 17.3 cents in 1935.

Higher Wages Cited.

"With wages 145 per cent higher in this country and actual productivity in poundage of yarn only 35 per cent greater, the evidence seems conclusive that British manufacturers have a very decided advantage over American manufacturers in labor costs," he said.

"Any impetus given to increased imports of fine yarns and fabrics," he said, "would decrease the use of American cotton and increase the use of Egyptian cotton. The United Kingdom is the principal user of Egyptian cotton."

Murchison said any tariff reduction on cotton goods would affect the small communities of the north and south, asserting that more than one-half the workers employed in cotton mills were employed in towns of 10,000 or less population — "communities," he said, "wholly or largely dependent upon mill pay rolls for their existence."

Murchison said more than 75,000 cotton mill workers were unemployed and many of those working are on part time.

THOMAS H. PITTS.

THOMAS H. PITTS DIES AT HOSPITAL

Services Tomorrow for Founder of Five Points Soda Fountain Landmark.

Thomas H. (Tom) Pitts, retired businessman, died at 7:40 o'clock last night at Piedmont hospital. He was 66.

In failing health for the last year, Mr. Pitts underwent a major operation January 31.

Born in Boston, Ga., he came to Atlanta when he was about 10 years old. In 1895 he opened a cigar store and soda fountain at Five Points that was to become a town landmark.

Five Points Meeting Place.

Titled Thomas H. Pitts, Inc., the triangle of land on Peachtree, between Decatur street and Edgewood avenue was known to everyone as "Pitts' Corner," and became a meeting place.

Thousands of soldiers stationed around Atlanta during the World War used it as their headquarters.

His home, Casa Loma, on Cascade road, noted for its beautiful gardens, is one of the show places of that section of the city.

Active in charitable and religious affairs, he was treasurer and member of the board of trustees of the Georgia Baptist Orphans' Home at Hapeville. He was a member of the board of deacons of the West End Baptist church. He belonged to the Georgia Masonic lodge, No. 96, the Shriners, the Royal Arch chapter of the Coeur de Lion Commandery, the Capital City Club, and the Ocean Pond Fishing Club, near Valdosta, Georgia.

Wife Survives.

Surviving are his wife, the former Miss D. Wilson Lowe, of Atlanta; two brothers, William B. Pitts, of Sunnyvale, Cal., and John Pitts, of Atlanta; a sister, Mrs. Ada Cone, of Delray, Fla., and the following nieces and nephews, Mrs. Philip Alexander, Mrs. P. L. Bardin, Mrs. George Winters, Mrs. William James, Mrs. Minnie Mae Bowden, and Robert Pitts, all of Atlanta; Mrs. Harry Bradley and William Pitts, both of Birmingham, Ala.; Mrs. Mable Reeve, of Milwaukee, Wis., and K. S. Cone, of Delray, Fla.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the West End Baptist church. Burial will be in West View cemetery under the direction of H. M. Patterson & Son.

BRITAIN ABANDONS U. S. 'PACT' HOPES, DECLARES BORAH

Senator Blames Recent Events in Congress for England's Decision for 'Dictatorship Alliance.'

'TOTALITARIANISM' ASSAILED BY ICKES

Roosevelt Scans European Situation at Luncheon With New Envoy.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—(P)—England apparently has abandoned hope of establishing any close alliance with the United States, Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, said today.

This was his interpretation of the British prime minister's decision to make gestures of friendliness to Italy and Germany—a decision which led to angry scenes in parliament.

Borah, making no secret of his pleasure at the thought that Anglo-American alliances were more than ever out of the question, expressed belief that recent events in the United States congress had a direct bearing on the British decision.

He referred to demands from Senator Johnson, Republican, California, and other isolationists that the State Department disclose whether the United States had any naval agreements with Great Britain. The State Department replied in the negative.

Demands Assailed.

Borah contended that the vehemence of the demands and the nature of the public reaction finally convinced Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain that any alliance was impossible.

As a result, Borah said, England "naturally turned to European countries for its friends." Emphasizing his view that recent developments abroad should not concern the United States officially, he urged that "we devote ourselves to our own business, so far as anything in the nature of foreign alliances is concerned."

Totalitarianism Hit.

In an address broadcast to the greater part of the British Empire, Secretary of the Interior Ickes said: "It behooves Democratic nations to prove that democracy will provide greater economic security than Fascism or Bolshevism."

"The community of interest that exists between Britain and America, as well as between other peoples who believe in democracy, should be strengthened," he said.

The secretary, who said he spoke as an individual, not as a representative of this government, inaugurated a series of broadcasts from America to Britain, arranged by the British Broadcasting Company. His remarks were broadcast to the United Kingdom, Canada, New Zealand, Australia, India and the Union of South Africa.

"Totalitarianism, either of the right, or the left, is alien to the

REBEL WARSHIPS, LOYALIST PLANES LOCK IN BATTLES

60 Naval Shells Hurlled Into Sagunto; 50 Bombs Dropped Upon Coastal City by Insurgent Fliers

FRENCH FREIGHTER IS ALSO DAMAGED

Two Fascist Ships Believed Disabled in Thrilling Civil War Engagement.

MADRID, Feb. 22.—(P)—Insurgent warships and government planes engaged today in one of the most thrilling sea and air battles of the civil war in which two insurgent warships were believed to have been disabled, the government announced.

(Insurgents earlier had reported the recapture of Teruel when government troops abandoned its defense and retreated hastily.)

The coastal cities of Valencia and Sagunto were heavily bombed and shelled during the engagement in which a French merchant vessel was damaged by a bomb.

Heavy Losses.

A defense ministry communique said the insurgent navy suffered heavy losses when two warships, one of them believed to be the battleship Almirante Cervera, were struck by government bombs.

The battle took place after four insurgent ships shelled Valencia and Sagunto, inflicting heavy property damage, but no loss of life.

Sixty naval shells were hurled into much-punished Sagunto while three insurgent bombing planes dropped 50 bombs on the city.

The French freighter Prado, near-by, was struck and shells fell close to another French ship, the Gaulois.

Three squadrons of government planes took to the air to meet the attack, and one plane swooped low to drop a bomb on one of the insurgent attackers. Thick columns of smoke immediately rose from the warship which the commander of the Prado said was the Almirante Cervera.

Destroyer Goes to Aid.

A French destroyer quickly went to the assistance of the Prado which only a month ago figured in another Mediterranean incident when stopped by a Spanish warship off Palamos and was rescued by a French destroyer.

The government reported the

Mystery Baby Found As Police Hold Man

Police last night sought to clear up a mystery surrounding a 3-year-old girl found in an automobile with a man shortly after 11 o'clock when they halted him for driving without lights.

The man, who gave his name as Ray Craft, of 956 Lawton street, S. W., told an incoherent story of bringing the little girl from New Holland Mills, above Gainesville. Police called Mrs. Craft who said she had never seen the child. Police decided to hold the man for investigation. The child was turned over to policewomen.

LAST HONORS PAID FRANCIS W. CLARKE

Simple, Impressive Ceremonies Conducted for Constitution Executive.

Simple, impressive funeral services were held yesterday for Francis W. Clarke, executive editor of The Constitution, who died Sunday night following an illness of bronchial pneumonia.

Business associates on the paper which he had served since a youth of 18 assembled with old friends and leaders of the city and state, as rites were conducted at Spring Hill and at the graveside of the family plot in Oakland cemetery.

Floral tributes banked around the bier expressed the esteem in which Mr. Clarke was held by persons in all walks of life and in all phases of human endeavor. While the services were being held, expressions of sympathy and regret at the editor's passing continued to come into offices of The Constitution.

Brief Service.

The chapel of Spring Hill was filled with men and women who had known Mr. Clarke or had worked with him during his many years on The Constitution when the Rev. Theodore S. Will, rector of All Saints Episcopal church, read a brief service at 11:30 o'clock yesterday morning.

Following the reading of the service, pallbearers filed behind the flower-decked casket to the waiting hearse.

These men included Ben L. Daniel, J. H. Foard, C. J. Holleran, Clark Howell, Ralph T. Jones, N.

First Driver Not Licensed Goes to Gang

Polk County Man Receives Six Months; Campaign Is Threatened.

Georgia's first driver to be convicted this year for failure to have a driver's license received a six-month sentence on the chain gang yesterday.

Charles Bright, of Polk county, was arraigned before City Court Judge F. A. Irwin in Cedartown and sentenced to six months on the gang. State troopers arrested him Monday afternoon on charges of driving without a license, according to Phil Brewster, commissioner of public safety.

Brewster said three state troopers took Bright into custody when he disregarded a stop sign between Rockmart and Cedartown. Finding him without a license, Brewster said, the officers arrested him and took him to Cedartown.

At the time of the arrest the three troopers were on the way from district headquarters at Cartersville to Cedartown to give chauffeurs' and operators' examinations, Brewster said.

The maximum sentence for violation of the drivers' license law is a $50 fine and six months in jail, he said.

"The troopers have not begun any concerted check-up for drivers' licenses, and will not for several days, until they have visited every county courthouse to give examinations and receive license applications," Brewster said.

FRANCE MAY SEEK PACT WITH ITALY

Foreign Minister Delbos Says Reconciliation Is Likely To Be Sought.

PARIS, Feb. 22.—(P)—Foreign Minister Yvon Delbos hinted tonight that the French government, faced with a choice between isolation in Europe or adopting a course parallel to England's, might enter into negotiations with Italy.

Delbos, addressing the chamber of deputies foreign affairs committee after the French cabinet had approved a five-year plan to strengthen national defenses, said the government might seek reconciliation with Italy, on two conditions:

1. That the League of Nations must recognize Italian sovereignty in Ethiopia before France would take such action.

2. That Italy retire her volunteer troops from Spain.

These were approximately the same conditions Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain specified for England's reconciliation with Italy.

A foreign affairs committee communique quoted Delbos as saying "Franco-British solidarity must remain just as close and just as confident as in the past."

No Renunciation.

At the same time Delbos assured left wing elements that the "government, faithful to our alliances and to the League covenant, does not renounce in any way the work of restoring collective security."

In reply to Communist members of the committee who expressed fear Chamberlain meant to con-

CENSURE MOTION BEATEN 330 TO 168 IN ANGRY DEBATE

Lloyd George Accuses Prime Minister of Withholding Duce's Approval Until Eden Resigned.

LEAGUE SANCTIONS BRANDED 'SHAMS'

Geneva Unable To Provide Security for Anybody, Premier Declares.

By The Associated Press.

LONDON, Feb. 22.—A thundering Conservative majority tonight gave Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain a house of commons victory in the wake of a cabinet crisis that ushered out Anthony Eden as foreign secretary and signaled a new British policy of conciliating dictators.

By a vote of 330 to 168, commons rejected a Labor motion to censure the prime minister's action.

"Sham" of League.

Fighting bitter attacks in the tumultuous commons, Chamberlain cried it was his duty to seek peace in the armed camps of Hitler and Mussolini, thus to avoid "the frightful question" of war. He rejected as "sham" the League of Nations' idea of fighting aggression by force.

Only one Conservative, Vyvyan Adams, voted against the government, but Eden, Winston Churchill and almost a score of others abstained from voting.

The effect of the new policy on the United States was flung into the bitter debate on several occasions by opposition members in their running fire and former Prime Minister David Lloyd George accused Chamberlain of withholding an Italian telegram until Eden resigned.

Hamstringing Roosevelt.

Arthur Greenwood, vice chairman of the Labor party who moved the vote of censure, declared that recognition of Italy's conquest of Ethiopia "would really hamstring the President of the United States and drive him completely into a policy of isolation."

Winston Churchill, former cabinet minister, charged that in the United States "havoc has resulted from these events. Millions of people there who are our enemies have been armed with means to mock the sincerity of British idealism."

He said American isolationists now could "represent that we are all of us continental people, tarred with the same brush, and that there is nothing to choose between us."

"That is propaganda which is now being given enormous impulse while our friends and those who steadily are working for closer co-operation of the two countries on parallel lines are downcast, baffled and bewildered."

Lloyd George, opposition Liberal, accused Chamberlain of "not taking the trouble" to obtain an Italian telegram accepting the

Berlin Expects British-German Pact; Nazis Jubilant

Reich Doubts London Will Let Czechoslovakia Pre- vent Accord.

BERLIN, Feb. 22.—(P)—Nazis tonight expected an Anglo-German accord would follow on the heels of settlement of British and Italian differences in a move for pacification of Europe.

It was believed Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain would not allow Czechoslovakia, in whose direction German eyes have turned since Chancellor Adolf Hitler proclaimed protection of German minorities in Central Europe, to be an obstacle to such an accord.

Germany thus was seen as feeling itself free to bring pressure upon the state which emerged as a republic at the end of the World War and which has almost 3,500,000 Germans in its population.

Praha Named

British formula for removing foreign volunteers from Spain until after Eden resigned.

White with fury, the prime minister sat on the edge of the front bench while Lloyd George cried: "I never heard of such conduct. . . it is a most incredible story."

Chamberlain hotly denied he had done "anything disgraceful" and insisted he merely had learned of the telegram's import from a friend of Italian Ambassador Count Dino Grandi on Sunday.

He said he told the cabinet so but did not get the telegram itself until Monday.

Eden Denies Knowledge.

Eden took part in the angry scene, rising to declare that up to the time of his resignation "I received no official intimation whatever from the Italian government in the sense of which the prime minister has just spoken."

Labor members cheered as he added it would not have made any difference in his decision anyway. Lloyd George brought the dispute to a climax by declaring "we have been beaten by dictators."

He asserted a man as innocent as Chamberlain was "only fit for a stained glass window."

The prime minister earlier had repudiated flatly the League sanctions theory as a "sham."

"We must not try to delude ourselves, and still more we must not try to delude small, weak nations that they will be protected by the League against aggression," he said.

"We know that nothing of the kind can be expected."

League Impotent.

"The League is unable to provide collective security for any body. . . I would say in the League because I have faith that it will be reconstituted."

"If the League would throw off the shams and pretenses which everyone sees through and come out with a declaration of what it is prepared to do, its moral force as a focus for public opinion would be multiplied at once."

He defended his action in seeking to negotiate an understanding with Italy by saying that if it was not taken "we may presently be faced with that frightful question (of war) . . ."

He has promised to submit any agreement with Italy to the League of Nations and stated the League still had "valuable work to do."

"I would not tear up a single

Here is a section of the crowd which congregated outside the British house of commons yesterday, anxiously awaiting news of the debate in a Labor party motion of censure, which was defeated. article, not even Article XVI (the sanctions article)," he said. In Rome it was announced that the Earl of Perth, British ambassador to Italy, would leave Wednesday for London to receive instructions on the Anglo-Italian negotiations.

Mussolini insisted the conversations take place in Rome, under his eye, between Lord Perth and Count Galeazzo Ciano, Italian foreign minister.

Chamberlain told the house the French were consulted fully on the consultations with Italy and, he said, appeared to be in "complete agreement" on the subjects to be discussed in the negotiations.

In the sharp parliamentary attack on the prime minister, Greenwood charged the new policy led to war and declared that with Eden gone "the fate of the world rests in the trembling hands of the prime minister."

Lloyd George, speaking of Eden, told Chamberlain: "You've got rid of the only man who would stand up to the dictators."

Churchill said Eden acted "absolutely right" in resigning and Chamberlain must take the responsibility for whatever may happen.

Stew in Own Juice. He declared Mussolini was weak and anxious about Italy's internal condition and added:

"It is sometimes wise to allow natural processes to work and for crimes and follies to be paid in coin of their own mint. . . It is much less easy to see why we should hurry so eagerly to the rescue."

Charging that Hitler used the recent visit to Berlin of Lord Halifax to show Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg, of Austria, that Britain would not intervene to save Austria's independence, the former cabinet minister asserted:

"Austria has been laid in thrall. We do not know what Czechoslovakia may be the object of a similar attack. . . If she resists that, the limits of which no man can predict."

He belittled the prowess of other countries "in a world approaching war" and asserted the "flames of war threaten to spread over the world at any moment."

Voroshiloff Announces Readiness in Case of War.

MOSCOW, Feb. 22.—(P)—Com-missor of War Klementi E. Voroshiloff, declaring Soviet Russia was more exposed than any other country to the danger of war, said today the Red army was ready to use poison gas.

"Because Fascist countries violated the 1925 convention on the use of gas in warfare, we were forced to train chemical troops," he said. "If the enemy spreads gas behind our frontiers, we will pour bucketsful of poison gas on the heads of those gentlemen."

Voroshiloff excused Soviet Russia's tremendous armament program on the grounds that other countries were engaged in an armaments race.

Colonel Pershing planned to spend the night at the desert sanitarium, where the general was taken after he suffered a relapse early this afternoon. Dr. Davison, who ordered Pershing to bed a week ago, asked for an army consultant when the general's condition became serious today.

The physicians said Pershing's condition was considered serious "merely because he is getting on in years." He was mentally alert and clear tonight, they said, "although not as well as he was this afternoon," when he rallied.

An only son, Warren Pershing, New York investment broker, was notified at Palm Beach, Fla., of his father's illness, and arranged to come to Tucson by airplane. He will arrive tomorrow morning.

The turn in the general's condition came unexpectedly. Dr. Davison said his patient spent a restless night.

At least 80 per cent of the Germans in Czechoslovakia are regarded as pro-Nazi with the percentage even greater in Bohemia, the part of Czechoslovakia bounded on three sides by Germany.

Nazis were confident that by the time Hitler visited Premier Benito Mussolini in Rome next May, the Sudeten Germans of Czechoslovakia would have much the same relation to Germany as Austria and the Free City of Danzig bear to the reich.

They also believed Germany again would possess the colonies she lost as the result of the World War.

With the turning of attention toward Czechoslovakia, there were indications that the Czechs were making concessions.

One was that next Thursday a symphony concert will be given in Berlin with the Czech minister to Germany acting as patron for the benefit of the Sudeten German winter relief organization.

AUSTRIANS GRIPPED BY FEAR OF CRISIS

Jews So Depressed That Six Commit Suicide; Nation Looks to Seyss-Inquart.

VIENNA, Feb. 22.—(P)—Turbulent Austria's future depended tonight on enforcement of discipline by Arthur Seyss-Inquart, Hitler-approved minister of the interior.

An appeal by him today for peace and order helped some to relieve the tension, but fear psychosis still gripped many Austrians as they awaited the end of jubilant Nazi celebrations.

Uncertainty as to how far the Nazis intended to go toward domination of the little nation contributed heavily to the nervous state.

The Jews particularly were depressed. Six committed suicide. Strong police patrols ranged through the streets to enforce a four-week ban on political demonstrations. Even political meetings were banned under the order which went into effect at midnight last night.

Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg remained in seclusion preparing a speech for Thursday in which he will explain the governmental changes brought about after his historic conference at Berchtesgaden February 12 with Chancellor Adolf Hitler, of Germany.

While the Boy Scouts rendered wonderful service during the Gainesville tornado, they would have been at work sooner if such a unit as we plan to form had been organized there," he pointed out.

"In Louisville, during the flood, in the latest Louisiana tornado and in dozens of other instances, Boy Scouts have rendered unusual services."

"Atlanta has had no recent community-wide disasters, but we never know when one will come."

He declared the organization of the unit will enable leaders in rescue work to have hundreds of boys ready for action within an hour after any disaster. The boys, he said, will be taught to be specialists in certain activities, such as first-aid work, tent-erection and directing traffic.

Favor Additional Planes. Cabinet ministers voted today in favor of a bill submitted by Minister of National Defense and War Edouard Daladier to expend 12,000,000 francs ($394,800,000) for additional warships and fighting planes during the period.

This huge armament fund, which is supplementary to the regular national defense budget allotments totaling 22,000,000 francs ($724,000,000), will be obtained from public borrowing. It will be administered as an independent fund by a committee headed by Daladier.

After parliamentary approval, borrowing was expected to begin immediately through the floating of a 2,000,000,000 franc ($65,000,000) loan.

The air corps will be given 1,200,000,000 francs ($39,480,000) to start construction of 1,000 planes to build up aviation strength.

The navy will be allotted 800,000,000 francs ($25,320,000) to lay down the two 35,000-ton battle-ships.

He refused even to talk "off the record" to the newspapermen about the swiftly moving events abroad, saying there was nothing he could add to what already had been said by the secretary of state at Washington.

Hull at a press conference yesterday said he was not in a position to comment or decline to comment on European affairs.

SCOUT EMERGENCY UNIT IS PLANNED

Body Will Be Mobilized Here Only in Case of Disaster.

Formation of an emergency mobilization unit of Boy Scouts in Atlanta, designed to be used only in times of community-wide or state-wide disaster, will be discussed at two meetings here tomorrow by W. E. Lawrence, assistant national director of health and safety for the Boy Scouts of America, it was announced yesterday.

In announcing the meeting, W. M. Marr, Scout executive for the Atlanta area council, said that formation of the unit will be "in keeping with community service rendered by Scouts already," but will enable the boys to congregate more rapidly in case of disaster.

Unusual Services. "While the Boy Scouts rendered wonderful service during the Gainesville tornado, they would have been at work sooner if such a unit as we plan to form had been organized there," he pointed out.

"In Louisville, during the flood, in the latest Louisiana tornado and in dozens of other instances, Boy Scouts have rendered unusual services."

"Atlanta has had no recent community-wide disasters, but we never know when one will come."

He declared the organization of the unit will enable leaders in rescue work to have hundreds of boys ready for action within an hour after any disaster. The boys, he said, will be taught to be specialists in certain activities, such as first-aid work, tent-erection and directing traffic.

Will Address Clubs. Mr. Lawrence will speak at a luncheon at 12:30 o'clock tomorrow in Rich's tea room, at which Mayor William B. Hartsfield and representatives of the police department, the fire department, the Rotary Club, the Kiwanis Club, the Optimist Club and other groups are expected to be present. In addition to the mobilization program, he will speak on health and safety problems in general.

The second meeting will be held at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow night in the auditorium of the Central Presbyterian church, attended by Boy Scouts, troop leaders, Scout commissioners and officials of the Atlanta Area Scout Council.

spirit that dominates the English-speaking democracies of the world," he said. "Totalitarianism is subversive to the ideals upon which our democracies are founded."

F. D. R. Sees Situation. Roosevelt in Hyde Park President Roosevelt canvassed the critical European situation at a lengthy luncheon conference with Joseph P. Kennedy, who sails tomorrow to assume his new post as ambassador to London.

But, like Secretary Hull in Washington, the chief executive adopted a policy of complete silence when asked at a press conference to state his reactions to the Reichstag address of Chancellor Adolf Hitler and the resignation of Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, of Great Britain.

He refused even to talk "off the record" to the newspapermen about the swiftly moving events abroad, saying there was nothing he could add to what already had been said by the secretary of state at Washington.

Hull at a press conference yesterday said he was not in a position to comment or decline to comment on European affairs.

THREE ELK UNITS MEET TOMORROW

Atlanta Lodge To Be Host at Biltmore Hotel.

Atlanta Lodge No. 78, B. P. O. Elks, will be host at 8 o'clock tomorrow night in the ballroom of the Biltmore hotel at a district meeting and interlodge visitation night of the Georgia Elks Association.

The three lodges of this district, comprising Atlanta, Decatur and Griffin, will participate in the meeting. A large group of candidates will be initiated at the meeting, to be attended by Charles G. Bruce, president of the association, and S. L. Threadgill, vice president of this district. Exalted Ruler Dr. I. H. Etheridge, of the Atlanta lodge, will preside.

WOMEN ORGANIZED. AUGUSTA, Feb. 22.—Mrs. W. K. Elliott has been elected president of the newly organized Women's Democratic Club, with Mrs. G. H. Fanning, first vice president; Mrs. Ellen Deas, second; Mrs. Edwin Murphy, third; Mrs. Grady Deas, treasurer, and Mrs. Claude Henderson, chaplain.

Fulton County Agrees To Assist In Plan for Prison Clearing House

Penal Board Members Confer at Tower With Commissioners; Program Provides for Quarantine Station To Be Established in Atlanta.

Fulton county officials agreed yesterday to co-operate with the State Board of Penal Administration in a plan to establish a clearing house and quarantine station for north Georgia felony prisoners at Fulton tower.

A. O. Blalock, of Fayetteville, chairman of the penal board, and Dr. John R. Lewis, of Louisville, a member, met at the county jail with Commissioners George F. Longino, Troy G. Chastain, Chairman J. A. Ragsdale, A. A. Clarke, county superintendent of construction, and E. E. Yantis, county highway engineer, to discuss the proposal.

Full Co-operation. "The county will co-operate in every way," Commissioner Longino said after the meeting. "We favor such a plan, and the main question now is whether the state will consider it too expensive. There will be no expense to the county."

No definite action will be taken until a subcommittee of the county commission reports back to the penal board when it meets with Governor Rivers next Tuesday at Tattall prison.

The plan to establish the quarantine detention camp in Atlanta was proposed Monday at a conference in which Governor Rivers, Sanford Bates, former director of the United States Bureau of Prisons, and penal officials participated.

It provides that felony prisoners from the entire northern section of Georgia would be sent to the clearing house for physical examination, finger-printing and proper classification before being assigned to various county camps. Otherwise, they would have to be sent to Tattall for the quarantine period. The proposed plan calls for accommodations on the top floor of Fulton tower for approximately 100 prisoners.

To Visit Prison Farm. The penal board plans to visit the old state prison farm near Milledgeville Monday before meeting Governor Rivers at Tattall Tuesday.

The board plans to make a survey of the Tattall properties, including the 8,000 acres of land owned by the state in conjunction with the prison plant, it was learned. It also plans to go over the farming program to be instituted at Tattall under supervision of the College of Agriculture.

REBELS, LOYALISTS STAGE AIR BATTLE

Insurgent cruisers Baleares and Canarias also took part in the engagement off Spain's east coast.

Some hours later government planes scouting the sea for raiders encountered two ships, one towing the other 25 miles east of Valencia toward the Columbretes islands.

These ships were rebombed and the towing vessel apparently struck when a column of smoke rose from the ship. The government communique said it was believed the bomb dropped inside the ship's funnel.

TERUEL IS RETAKEN BY REBEL FORCES

HENDAYE, France (at the Spanish Frontier), Feb. 22.—(P) The strategic city of Teruel, in ruins after two months of bombardment, fell under Spanish insurgent control again today when government forces gave up its defense and made a hasty retreat.

Entirely surrounded by insurgent troops, the government garrison formed into an attacking column and fought its way out of the city after a night of bitter street fighting.

From General Franco's headquarters came reports of renewed heavy fighting in which it was said government forces suffered severe losses. One report placed casualties of the last several days at 25,000 and said thousands of prisoners were taken.

Insurgent dispatches declared more than 1,000 were killed and 2,600 taken prisoner as the city fell.

ANTI-NAZI CLUE SOUGHT IN DR. SAMMET DEATH

CHICAGO, Feb. 22.—(UP)—Police looked for anti-Nazi affiliations in the record of Dr. Max Bernhard Sammet, 44, Jewish exile from Germany, tonight as a possible clue to his slaying.

Sergeant Rakec said Sammet had many friends here who were his acquaintances in Germany before Jewish persecution drove them into exile.

Baby Boy Held for $16 Board Bill Ordered Returned to His Parents

CARLISLE, Pa., Feb. 22.—(P)—A "board bill baby"—held five months by a neighboring family as security for a $16 debt—was returned to his parents today by a court order.

Judge Reese told Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Miller:

"You cannot assert a lien on flesh and blood like you can on an automobile."

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred McCalister, came to court from their farm at Newville in the South Mountains to regain their eight-month-old son.

McCalister, 40-year-old World War veteran, testified he left his son with the Millers while his wife was in a Carlisle hospital.

"When I went to get the baby," he said, "Miller told me he wanted some money for keeping it. I had never promised him any, but I said I thought he ought to have something."

"Then he said, 'I want $2 a week.'"

"He knew I couldn't pay $2 a week, because I don't have that much."

Miller, 24-year-old farmer, told Judge Reese he had not entered into any "agreement" when McCalister brought him the infant.

"When he came for the baby, I asked him for $2 a week for its keep," said Miller. "McCalister refused to pay, so I kept the baby."

TALMADGE SILENT ON POLITICAL PLANS

Former Governor Declares He Is Awaiting 'Developments'

Former Governor Talmadge remained silent yesterday on his political plans.

The Savannah Evening Press said Monday it was reported Talmadge might become a candidate for congress from the eighth Georgia district, opposing Braswell Deen of Alma, but the red-suspended ex-Governor retorted:

"This is the first I've heard of it."

Asked if he planned to run for the United States senate, for congress, or for any office at all, Talmadge said he was awaiting "developments."

He said these "developments" did not include awaiting announcement by Governor Rivers of his primary plans.

"I don't care what Ed Rivers does," Talmadge said tartly.

Governor Rivers is eligible to seek re-election. He has also been mentioned as a possible opponent of United States Senator Walter F. George.

Talmadge declined either to confirm or deny political rumors that Mrs. Talmadge might make the race for governor.

The former governor, foe of the Roosevelt administration, was defeated in 1936 when he opposed Senator Richard B. Russell, Jr., for a seat in the United States senate. He has since been engaged in his law practice in Atlanta and operation of a farm at his home in McRae and another at Forsyth. He edits the weekly newspaper, "The Statesman."

Talmadge disclaimed political significance of a fish fry planned Saturday on the Ogeechee river by Philip Morgan, of Guyton and Savannah. "It's just a little picnic gotten up by some friends," Talmadge said. Approximately 2,000 persons are expected to attend the fry.

OBSERVERS CREDIT REPORT, SAYS PRESS

SAVANNAH, Feb. 22.—(P)—The Savannah Evening Press states "a report which has gained wide circulation in state political circles and which is the center of much conjecture here is that Eugene Talmadge may be a candidate for congress from the eighth Georgia district, Braswell Deen, of Alma, is the present congressman from that district."

The Press said "political observers who have studied the reports are inclined to place credence in them, pointing out this would place Talmadge in the national arena. He is not eligible under the constitution of Georgia to offer for governor this year. Observers say a congressional race would afford him an opportunity to take the stump as a candidate and if his race were successful would strengthen his position for participation in future state-wide elections."

MRS. A. A. GROGAN DIES; RITES TODAY

Services Are To Be Held at Sandy Springs.

Mrs. Arcia Abernathy Grogan, 71, died yesterday at her home, 750 East avenue, N. E.

Born in Sandy Springs, Mrs. Grogan had lived in Atlanta for the past 54 years. She was the widow of J. W. Grogan, former Atlanta laundry engineer. She was a member of the Sandy Springs Methodist church.

Surviving are a son, W. O. Grogan; a sister, Mrs. Rhoda Brightwell; a brother, M. L. Abernathy, and three grandchildren, all of Atlanta.

Funeral services will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the Sandy Springs Methodist church with the Rev. S. A. F. Wagner and the Rev. W. F. Burdett officiating. Burial will be in Sandy Springs cemetery under the direction of H. M. Patterson & Son.

COLLEGE PRESIDENCY OFFERED DR. GREENE

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Feb. 22.—(P)—An authoritative source said today Dr. Walter Kirkland Greene, dean of undergraduate instruction at Duke University, Durham, N. C., had received an offer of the presidency of Birmingham-Southern College.

The school's nominating committee met today and conferred with several persons considered for the post vacated last June by Dr. Guy E. Snavely, who resigned because of his wife's health. Sources here said Dr. Greene had not accepted the offer.

Where Train-Truck Crash Killed Driver, Injured 24

This Wabash railroad train, speeding northward at 70 miles an hour, caused injuries to 24 persons at a suburban crossing in Chicago yesterday when it crashed into a truck, the driver of which was killed.

TRAIN HITS TRUCK; 24 ABOARD HURT

Wabash Railroad Limited Rumbles on After Killing Driver.

CHICAGO, Feb. 22.—(P)—Twenty-four passengers were injured today when a Wabash railroad train, speeding north at 70 miles an hour, rammed into a truck at a suburban crossing.

The driver of the demolished truck, Frank Gregson, 40, of Chicago, was killed.

The train, the St. Louis Limited, carrying 60 travelers to Chicago, rumbled down the tracks for two blocks after the accident. Then five of the six coaches left the rails. Two toppled over on their sides. Further along, the passenger car immediately behind the locomotive jumped the track.

Highway policemen, breaking windows with pistol butts, lifted the passengers from the coaches. District Superintendent Earl Lind, of the Wabash, sent a train of doctors and nurses to the scene of the wreck in the village of Worth, about 15 miles southwest of Chicago's loop.

N. S. MORGAN DIES; INSURANCE AGENT

World War Veteran's Rites Set for Today.

Noble S. Morgan, 42, associated for the last 16 years with Witham & Co., insurance agents, died yesterday in a hospital after a week's illness.

A native of Clarksville, Ga., Mr. Morgan had lived the greater part of his life in Atlanta. He was a World War veteran, a Mason and a member of the Elks and the Baptist church.

Surviving is his mother, Mrs. C. G. Peebles, of Social Circle and Atlanta.

Funeral services will be held at 11 o'clock this morning in Peachtree chapel with the Rev. Robert Hays officiating. Burial will be in the family cemetery, Clarksville, under the direction of Brandon-Bond-Condon.

DELAY OF CONTRACTS FOR MAIL ROUTE ASKED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—(P)—Representative Hildebrandt, Democrat, South Dakota, introduced today a resolution calling upon the Post Office Department to delay for 60 days the awarding of star mail route contracts for southern states.

Ordinarily the contracts would be awarded about March 1. The proposed delay was in anticipation of action on a bill to continue present star route contracts as long as service was satisfactory and to pay for the service on a straight mileage instead of a contract basis.

60,000 Enter State Spelling Bee; Keen Interest Shown in Awards

Interest in Awards and State Winner's Free Trip to Washington Is Shown as Entry Blanks Come in; Invitations Go To Private Schools.

Spelling books took on new interest in grade school class rooms throughout Georgia yesterday with more than 60,000 pupils of county and independent school systems entered in The Constitution's state-wide participation in the National Spelling Bee.

As completed entry blanks poured in from superintendents, invitations to participate in the competition were sent to private and parochial school heads in every section of the state.

Keen interest was being manifested in the awards, which range from grade school and system championships to the Georgia championship and a free week's trip to Washington, D. C., to take part in the national final, May 31.

Georgia's champion to be chosen at the state final in Atlanta, May 7, from the sixth, seventh and eighth grade students, who succeed in winning county, independent or private system championships, will be feted in Washington with many educational tours and entertainments in addition to sharing in $1,750 of cash prizes.

It was explained that, in the interest of complete fairness, the competitions through the phase of deciding eligibles for the state final will be based on spelling books with which the students of given schools are familiar.

No special word lists, or books, will be prepared unless this is to be found necessary in the latter stages of the spelling bees when final eliminations are in progress.

First of the private schools to enter was Washington Seminary of Atlanta, and competition in this category was expected to develop speedily. All private schools of each community will be placed in a separate classification, the champion taking equal rank in the state final with county and independent system winners.

The bees will be conducted exclusively by school officials, with Dr. M. D. Collins, state superintendent of schools, as state sponsor, and county, independent systems and private system heads as

DRUG SMUGGLING

Three Arrested as Federal Agents Continue Drive.

BOSTON, Feb. 22.—(UP)—Three new arrests were made here today as federal narcotics agents continued their drive to smash the $1,000,000-a-year Boston branch of a nation-wide drug smuggling ring.

Agents here said three others had been arrested in New York city. The men, taken in a New York hotel, were described as Morris Bittzer, his brother, Hyman, and Jack Silver.

Those arrested here today are Anthony Santonielli, a night club operator, and two women whose names were not divulged.

BLAST PROTECTION GIVEN ATLANTANS

Smoke Inspector Cites South Georgia Explosion as Need for Precaution.

Atlantans are being protected against possibility of boiler explosions such as the south Georgia explosion which killed four persons several days ago, A. W. "Smokey" Jones, city smoke inspector, said yesterday.

"People have an idea the department confines its work to smoke inspection and elimination of fire hazards," he said. "One of our most important duties is to see that all pressure vessels used in the city are safe."

He cited common "boiler troubles" which might lead to explosions, including bad safety valves, soot and scale accumulation and second-hand boilers.

"We condemn every second-hand boiler unless it is rebuilt along safety lines, and we require the replacement of old-style weighted safety valves with the modern spring-pop type. As a result of examination and inspection, Atlanta hasn't had a major boiler explosion in 15 years."

He asked public co-operation to keep the city safe from boiler explosions.

CHILDREN ARE INJURED AS BUS, TRUCK CRASH

BRUNSWICK, Feb. 22.—(P)—A school bus-truck collision on the St. Simons highway today injured more than a dozen children, none seriously.

The bus, carrying 48 St. Simons Island children to a Brunswick school, and the truck crashed shortly after the bus crossed Little river bridge.

Sergeant Jimmie Bisson, of the Brunswick police department, said the driver of the bus was A. A. Burns, of St. Simons Island, and that Andy Guest, of Brunswick, was driving the truck.

MARSHALL ALLISON APPOINTED JUDGE

Governor Names Classmate to Northern Georgia Circuit.

Assistant Attorney General Marshall Allison yesterday was appointed to the judgeship of the northern circuit of superior courts by Governor Rivers.

He succeeds the late Judge Berry T. Moseley, who died at his home in Danielsville last Saturday. Judge Moseley served, since 1930, the circuit embracing the counties of Elbert, Hart, Franklin, Madison and Oglethorpe.

The appointment, effective immediately, is for the period ending next January.

Allison, a classmate of Governor Rivers at Young Harris College, studied law at home and was admitted to the Georgia bar December 31, 1928.

Born and educated in Lavonia, Franklin county seat, he practiced there until January, 1937, when he became an assistant attorney general.

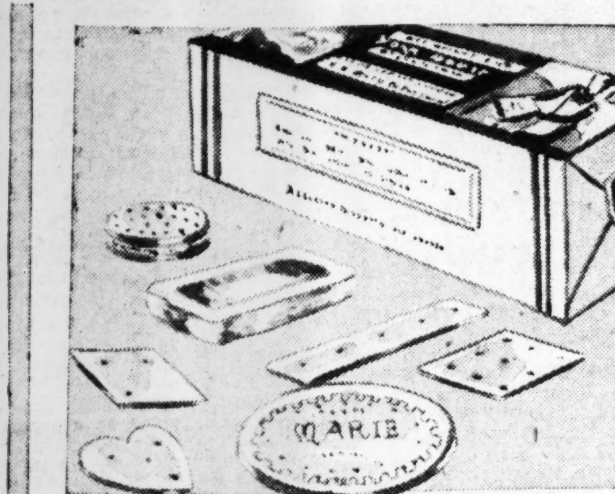

He was Franklin county attorney two years and Lavonia city attorney 10 years. He served a term on Lavonia's council, 1922-1923.

The youthful judge—he will be 41 March 3—was first commander of the Franklin County Post, American Legion, and first president of the Lavonia Lions Club. He was superintendent of Lavonia Methodist Sunday school five years.

Married to the former Miss Marion Willbanks, of Lavonia, he has a 16-year-old daughter, Julia.

Allison is an ardent fisherman. Franklin county will be 154 years old Friday and Allison became its first citizen to become a superior court judge.

AMERICA—INCLUSIVE AND EXCLUSIVE

President Roosevelt's message to the President of Argentina comes at a time when the world situation adds striking emphasis to his call for closer co-operation between the republics of the twin American continents.

That message advocated, likewise, the "exclusion of political principles and problems which are alien to this hemisphere."

The news of recent days from Europe provides impressive indorsement to the American practice of avoidance of foreign entanglements. By coincidence, that news comes at the time of Washington's birthday when, once more, citizens of the United States are reliving their memory of Washington's farewell address. The father of the country urged "as little political connection as possible," as a rule of American conduct in regard to foreign nations.

On this side of the Atlantic is a group of nations which are strikingly similar in their democratic ideals. They form a smaller world unto themselves, separated from the turmoil and rivalries of Europe and the Orient alike by wide oceans. It should be self-evident that the future of all these American republics can be made safest by sympathetic co-operation between themselves and concentration upon the inclusive wellbeing of them all.

The United States naturally feels a peculiar sympathy with Great Britain and, in scarcely lesser degree, with France. The three comprise the leaders among the democratic nations of the world. Yet, after the Hitler outbreak and the new threat of Nazi spread contained therein, it is evident that Britain is disposed to make concessions to the Reich in order to retain the form, at least, of friendship with Germany. That the hand of Britain is largely forced by the dangerous situation in the East does not alter the result in European diplomacy.

There should be no doubt but that Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain will see his policy of concessions to Germany succeed. The noisy London crowds that cheered Anthony Eden, resigning foreign secretary, must have contained a large element of radical troublemakers who, in their communistic hatred of Nazidom, seized the opportunity to attempt to stir up new public opposition to the Hitler regime.

All democracies, perforce, contain comparatively small groups which can make a lot of noise whenever the chance occurs.

The immediate result of these European developments is to strengthen the determination of the United States to keep her own interests and affairs, as much as possible, on this continent and to weld closer the friendliness and co-operation between all the republics of the hemisphere.

A PUBLIC LOSS

The Wormsloe Gardens near Savannah will be closed to the public after March 1, it is announced. The announcement carries no hint of the reason for this change of policy on the part of the owner.

Whatever the reason, there can be no question as to the deprivation which it imposes. Old and serene, as well as piercingly lovely, this beauty spot embodies all those intimations of life in death, of tradition molded to the uses of modern life, of security in the face of all alteration, which heartens the human spirit while delighting the human eye. It is to be hoped only a temporary barrier has been erected to the common enjoyment of this accumulation of beauty.

For something new in wacky dancing, keep an eye on Nazi Vienna and the goose-step in waltz time.

March 15 draws on apace, and we suppose any day now Capone will begin cutting his income tax blank up into paper dolls.

A wild rumor that Der Fuehrer had lost his voice is flatly denied. The situation therefore remains as loud, but not especially funny.

The national resources of indifference to how much a radio comic dropped yesterday at the Santa Anita track have scarcely been scratched.

An announcement that tipping, as well as fan dancing, is out at New York's fair in '39 causes us to raise the other eyebrow.

This, scholars, is the Nazi version of the strip tease—peeling the Versailles treaty, provision by provision, while the censor looks the other way.

The G. O. P. itself admits a Herculean task lies just ahead. It will not be enough to stuff a shirt and wait for the October, 1940, ground swell.

FOR CHILDREN'S SAFETY

The finance committee of city council has been authorized to devise details for the issuance of bonds for the financing of new buildings to replace the portable wooden fire-traps which are now used as classrooms at several Atlanta public schools.

It is, of course, necessary to make these plans, but there should be not a day of delay beyond that absolutely unavoidable. For every day in which school is conducted in some of the portable buildings now occupied is a day of frightening peril for hundreds of Atlanta children.

This peril takes two forms, the danger of fire and the danger of illness resulting from unsanitary conditions. Many who have visited and examined these schools have expressed astonishment that there has been no holocaust nor epidemic to date.

Replacement of the class firetraps was recommended by Dr. Thomas H. Reed, municipal expert, after his recent survey of county and city. He merely added his voice, however, to the recommendations and appeals which had previously been made by many organizations and many individuals.

There can be no reasonable objection to a bond issue to provide the funds needed for a purpose. The need is too vital and the emergency too pressing for technical quibbling about the mode of solution.

The only criticism that could properly be made would be criticism at any unnecessary lengthening of the peril under which the children must now attend their classes.

THE SPRING PRIMARY ISSUE

Included in the ballot for the Fulton county primary of March 2 will be a referendum for or against spring primaries. A vigorous campaign to get out as large a vote as possible on this issue is being conducted by a special committee of the Atlanta League of Women Voters. This is known as the "Against a Spring Primary" committee.

The evils involved in the spring, or early, primary are recognized by a large proportion of citizens. One of these evils is that, with the primary held nine months before successful candidates will take office, there cannot be the same keen interest in the issues involved that would have become aroused at a later date. This very evil is a threat against the success of the movement to end the spring primaries through this referendum. It is feared that a light vote on March 2 will be to the disadvantage of those who want future primaries delayed until fall.

The early primary is undesirable because it does not allow time for the various issues involved in any election, and the position of the different candidates on those issues, to become clear cut or definitely set in the public mind. Even though the candidates may be emphatic in their statements, the nine-month gap before they take office is so long there is always the possibility of changing circumstances bringing new conditions or altered views, before the mandate of the voters can be carried out.

This year provides a striking example. The recommendations made by Dr. Thomas H. Reed, noted consultant of municipal governments, were made public some three weeks ago. They followed an intensive six-month survey of city and county government. The time has been altogether too short for the voters to study and fully understand that report, or for the candidates who may approve or oppose the recommendations to make their opinions generally known.

Yet, because of the early primary, the new group of county officials must be chosen on March 2 and there will be no opportunity to recall the decision once made at that ballot, regardless of what may develop between now and January 1 as a result of the Reed survey.

Professional politicians and perennial officeholders always want an early primary. They know that issues will not be clear when votes are cast. They know that lack of interest will result in a light poll, although their own supporters, their employees, friends, henchmen and all their families, will be out in full force. The ones missing from the ballot places will be the average citizens who have no direct, personal interests in the outcome, except the universal interest in good government.

Early primaries are not in accord with true democratic principles. They force decision when the issues involved are not prominent in the public consciousness.

The referendum of March 2 offers opportunity to believers in good government to cast a vote against early primaries. It is important that no one, who can avoid it, miss the exercise of his right to the franchise on that day.

There is a sense of something lacking in the new farm bill. It has 121 pages of expensive language, but no large, lithographed red tomato on the cover.

Tokyo may never have heard that old Chinese proverb, about first downs not counting in the payoff.

The "average woman," if she existed, would be of no interest to the average man.

Editorial of the Day

TIPPING

(From the Greenville Piedmont.)

Mrs. Roosevelt tells reporters that the tipping system is "a beautiful way out" for employers who want to pay inadequate wages and she urges that it be eliminated from the American business system altogether.

Its elimination assuredly is desirable and the reason the First Lady assigns for it is only one of many.

But its elimination would be so highly sensible that there is virtually no hope that we will accomplish it.

THE CAPITAL PARADE

By JOSEPH ALSOP AND ROBERT KINTNER.

RAILROAD SITUATION WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—The flat prediction that no fewer than 27 major railroads will default on $203,000,000 of fixed charges during 1938 was contained in a Reconstruction Finance Corporation memorandum on the railroad problem recently submitted to the White House by Chairman Jesse H. Jones.

Furthermore, the prediction of the RFC economists was made after they had supposed a 15 per cent freight rate increase, computed the additional revenue the increase would bring the roads, and subtracted from that the deficit total. Without a freight rate increase, according to the RFC study, many more roads, both big and little, would go to the wall.

Let it seem that the RFC is an unduly morbid institution, it must be added that the opinion of the RFC economists is no different from the opinions of their colleagues in other government agencies, and distinguished economist of the administration, whose former connection with a great New York banking house doing railroad business gives him an unusually practical approach, has voiced the belief that, by January 1 of next year, all but five small roads will be in receivership.

This last prophet of gloom was probably moved to overemphasis by his desire to see drastic governmental action in the railroad situation. Nevertheless, the seriousness of the roads' problem can hardly be overestimated.

WHAT THE ROADS MEAN The railroad problem is not confined to the amount of railroad stockholders' profits. A million persons are employed by the nation's railroads. Three-quarters of a million or more have their savings invested in railroad securities. The road bought $670,000,000 in goods from American industry in the year 1936. They paid taxes to the federal and local governments totaling $420,000,000.

Worst of all, the railroads' bonds are favorite investments for banks, insurance companies and other large institutions whose continued health is vital to business life. Institution investors own $7,500,000,000 of railroad bonds, divided so that the bonds make up 20 per cent of the securities owned by life insurance companies; 36 per cent of the securities owned by mutual savings banks, and 6 per cent of commercial banks' portfolios.

Obviously, something must be done and done at once to meet the railroad problem. Evidently a freight rate increase will not be sufficient. Even some of the experts of the roads themselves have privately admitted this with perfect frankness, and opinion in the large New York banking houses has usually inclined, in some instances, to the belief that a freight rate increase will harm the roads by helping trucks to compete with them.

TWO VIEWS Yesterday two prevalent schemes for action, for a special court of railroad reorganization and for a railroad unification authority, were disclosed here. These emanated from the left wing of the administration, whose members desire to "put the roads through the wringer," throw out most of their present management, scale down their indebtedness and give them a complete new start.

The objective of the New Deal left-wingers is immediate railroad unification. Unfortunately, railroad unification means the end of up to 400,000 jobs on the roads. Railroad labor has an immense political power, and even if the left-wing program commands the backing of the President, it appears to be politically impractical.

Therefore, the temporary and palliative measures now being bruited about have an extra importance. A great many of them have been suggested. The outstanding ones are:

1. Quick lending by the RFC to the roads, enabling them to pay present debts by contracting future debts.

2. A change in the statute which now requires the Interstate Commerce Commission to certify roads as solvent before the RFC can lend to them, thus permitting the RFC to lend money to bankrupt or near-bankrupt roads.

3. An equipment lending program by the RFC, running anywhere from $500,000,000 to $1,500,000,000, to spur heavy goods industries and benefit the roads indirectly by business improvement.

PERSONALITIES IN THE PICKLE On top of all its other complexities, the railroad problem is made no simpler by the personal irritations and jealousies involved in it. For example, the President regards Senator Burton K. Wheeler, former anti-court-plan champion and still chairman of the senate interstate commerce committee, with something less than warm enthusiasm. Senator Wheeler is suspicious of the President, but squarely behind the President's left-wing advisers in their drastic stand.

The left-wingers have made up with the senator, but they deeply distrust the leading advocate of palliation, RFC Chairman Jones, and feel that the ICC has been criminally limp in its policies. The ICC is jittering with fear lest its powers be diminished or attacked. And, just to bring things full circle, the President dislikes the ICC because it has insisted on being too independent an agency.

So much for the government factors. As for the railroads, their representatives lurk in the capital lobbies, gloomily worrying about government ownership at one moment and demanding the next to be allowed to go more deeply into hock to the government.

He was a colored man, a sign painter. On Howard street, Kirkwood, he had a job to paint a slogan on 16 small window spaces, all in a row. He had four words, three of four letters each and one a five-letter word. It looked impossible but, tossing the old black speller into the ashen, he solved his problem thus:

GOOD DRUG STORE HERE.

And, after all, you know what he means, don't you?

This Business

Of Eating.

One correspondent of a mathematical magazine furnishes the information that the average man of 60, who has eaten three meals a day all his life, has consumed 65,845 meals by the time he reaches the age of three-score. This includes, my statistical friend adds, 15 leap years and he estimates that meals missed because of sickness, etc., are offset by the midnight suppers and "town-meal" snacks.

The same letter of unimportant information points out an oddity in the fact that Atlanta, inland city though it is, has 24 steamship agencies. For proof, look in the back of the telephone directory.

Many Uses of "Cellophane."

"Cellophane" is the trade name for transparent cellulose film, which was invented in 1908 by a Swiss chemist named Brandenberger. It was first used as material in making women's hats. The average American knows it best as the transparent paper in which everything, it seems, from cigarettes and cookies to automobiles and refrigerators, is wrapped.

It is said that enough cellophane has been manufactured in this country in the last five years to encircle the earth at the equator five times, with a band more than 200 feet wide.

In addition to its universal use as a wrapper, cellophane is woven as narrow ribbons into fabric for curtains. Fifty thousand yards of sparkling cellophane film were used to make the moonbeams in the motion picture production of "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

It has been used for theatrical costumes while it has proven very useful in radio studio for sound effects. Surgeons have used it as an outside dressing on wounds and farmers have used it as a cover for early plants to protect them from sudden weather changes.

And daily new uses are being discovered. Imagination is the only limitation to its possibilities.

It is a by-product of forest and field. It is made of cellulose, manufactured from the spruce tree and cotton linters. Thus extension of its usefulness is important to the south, both as a cotton and a forestry stimulant.

Mister Riddle

Contributes.

Oscar Riddle, one of the wizards of the advertising department, comes across as a Silhouettes contributor with a rhyme of six stanzas which is not bad but would be better if the lines scanned a little more perfectly. Incidentally, Oscar headed his verse "Memories of '88," intimating he was attending a log school house in that year. Anybody knows Oscar must suspect a typographical error. Unless he is thinking of 1798. Or perhaps he got a numeral upside down and it should be '68.

But, eliminating the questionable heading, here is the contribution:

A log school house,
In the nineties late,
Where we worked our sums
On a five-cent slate.

Our benches were slabs
With no backs at all,
And we used red mud
For the cracks in the wall.

Our heat was made
By a single wood stove—
One side of you burnt
While the other side froze.

Some hickory switches
In a corner stood,
And you got 'em round your legs
If you weren't mighty good.

Our teacher's name
Was Johnson Mack,
And he taught us to spell
From the old Blue-Back.

We were in at eight,

Farm Control

Questions

The Constitution, in co-operation with the extension service of the University System of Georgia, presents here the first of a series of questions and answers designed to explain and clarify for Georgia farmers the recently enacted cotton and tobacco acreage control legislation. The first three of the series, to be presented daily, will deal generally with the farm bill and its provisions as they deal with cotton.

Features of Act.
Q. What is the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938?

A. An act of congress, approved by the President February 16, 1938, which, among other things, continues, amends, and strengthens the soil conservation and domestic allotment act and provides authority for the control of burdensome surpluses in five major commodities.

Q. What are the five commodities?

A. Cotton, tobacco, rice, corn and wheat.

Q. In what way does the act provide control of surpluses of these crops?

A. After supplies reach certain levels, marketing of the crops is regulated through the imposition of quotas.

Q. Who will put the quotas into effect?

A. The act puts them into effect, but they are subject to rejection by referendum vote of producers.

Q. How will this control surpluses?

A. By providing penalties on sales in excess of quotas.

Marketing Quotas.

Q. When will cotton marketing quotas be put into effect?

A. Whenever the supply of cotton exceeds the normal supply by more than 7 per cent, unless quotas are opposed by more than one-third of the producers. Quotas will be effective in 1938, unless disapproved by more than one-third of the cotton producers voting in the referendum to be held on March 12.

Q. What is a "normal supply" of cotton for 1938?

A. Approximately 18,200,000 bales. Normal supply is defined in the act as a normal year's domestic consumption and exports, plus 40 per cent as an allowance for a normal carry-over.

Q. What is the present supply of American cotton?

A. Almost 25,000,000 bales, resulting largely from the record crop of 18,700,000 bales in 1937.

Q. If marketing quotas are approved for cotton, what steps will be taken to put them into effect on individual farmers?

A. The national cotton allotment proclaimed by the secretary of agriculture in terms of bales will be allocated to the states, in terms of the acres which, with average yields, would produce the national allotment, and the acreage allocated to the states will be apportioned to counties or administrative areas in the states and ultimately to farms.

Q. What is the total cotton acreage which will be allotted to states, counties and farms in 1938?

A. Approximately 28,300,000 acres.

Q. On the basis of average yields, how much cotton is expected to be produced on this number of acres?

A. Between 10,500,000 and 11,500,000 bales.

Q. How do cotton marketing quotas under the adjustment act of 1938 differ from the quotas under the Bankhead act?

A. Under the Bankhead act, each cotton producer received a poundage allotment and paid a tax on all cotton ginned in excess of that allotment. Under the adjustment act of 1937, each cotton farm will receive an acreage allotment, and all cotton produced on the acreage allotment may be sold without any penalty.

Q. Will marketing quotas apply to all cotton?

A. Yes, except that they will not apply to cotton with a staple of 1-2 inches or longer, such as Georgia's sea island cotton.

Question Box

On the Bible

By W. L. PETTINGILL

STANDING AND STATE.

Q. Please define the difference between the believer's standing and state.

A. The believer's standing has to do with his position in Christ, and his state has to do with his actual spiritual condition. The moment a man believes on the Lord Jesus Christ and is born again he enters into a position in grace as a result of the work of Christ. He is accepted in the beloved as a full grown son of God. He is a priest in a brotherhood of priests, and is assured that in this standing he will be eternally preserved. On the other hand his walk may be very far below his standing. And all the work of the Holy Spirit of God who indwells him is in order to bring his state up to his standing. He is already a saint, but he is called upon to walk as become a saint. The matter is put into a single sentence in Ephesians 5:8 where we read: "Ye were sometimes darkness, but now are ye light in the Lord; walk as children of light."

Little Holland.

Holland may be little, but it owns the longest air line in the world, has the largest canal locks in the world, thinks nothing of bailing out an ocean and planting bulbs where once the fishes swam. As for great financial ability, did it not once buy Manhattan Island for $24?

The Richest Trader Bankrupts

Himself When He Trades Off

His Stock of Time

By ROBERT QUILLEN.

Civilized people look upon suicide with horror. To moralists it seems a base and cowardly crime. To the religious it is an unpardonable sin, for where there is no repentance there is no pardon. If this judgment is just, and self-destruction is wholly evil, is the wrong made less by the method of doing it or affected by the element of time?

Both law and common sense affirm that murder is murder, regardless of the method employed or the time required for its consummation. The murderer's guilt is the same, whether his victim died quickly with a bullet in his brain or slowly and horribly with poison in his vitals. In fact, the intention to kill or the conscious act of killing would establish the guilt if the process of poisoning required five years.

If that is true of murder, why isn't it true of suicides?

The obvious answer is that people who kill themselves by slow degrees have no intention to commit suicide and no desire to die. Therefore, they have no feeling of guilt.

Yet in their hearts they know they are killing themselves, and they continue the process wilfully, making deliberate choice between sensible living and fatal self-indulgence, and their responsibility for the result is as clear and complete as though they had used a gun.

Whatever the moral right or wrong of it, the fact remains that the majority of men do kill themselves by unwise living. A national organization whose purpose is to prolong life has discovered that the ordinary man can add from two to fifteen years to his life span by living as wisely as he knows how.

Experience has shown that the average man, having made a written record of his follies, needs no other incentive to reform. When he sees the indictment in black and white, his self-respect insists that he quit being a sinner.

He isn't doing anything very bad—merely drinking more or less poisonous beverages instead of water; punishing his heart and lungs with tobacco; eating meat instead of fruit and vegetables; failing to get enough sleep, or work up a daily sweat out-of-doors, or expose his hide to the sun and air.

Any self-indulgence is a pleasure, but ten years or even five seems a rather high price to pay for it.

AMERICA SPEAKS

By DR. GEORGE GALLUP,

Director, American Institute of Public Opinion.

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—With growing Japanese aggression in the far east generally considered a threat to the safety of the Philippines, and with the Commission on Paul V. McNutt now conferring in Washington on island affairs, the much-debated question of Philippine independence has taken on fresh importance.

Philippine Popular Frontists and

Friends of P. V. McNutt Open 1940 Boom

Army Commander Shifted for Unauthorized Flight of Commissioner.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—(P)—Enthusiastic Indiana Democrats rolled into Washington by the Pullman carload today bent upon giving their favorite White House hope, Paul V. McNutt, a fast and early start in the 1940 presidential contest.

Comfortably established in the Mayflower hotel, they settled down to two days of political talk and merrymaking. Amid the gaiety, however, there was hushed talk of the plight of an army aviator who, according to some reports, had been punished for services rendered to the Indians' hero.

Colonel Davenport Johnson, commandant of Hamilton Field, Cal., it seems, gave McNutt a lift from San Francisco to Denver—at McNutt's importuning—so that he could make a train connection for Indianapolis. A day or so later the flyer was ordered transferred to Chanute Field, Ill., which some army airmen call the "Siberia of the service."

Indians Regret Act.

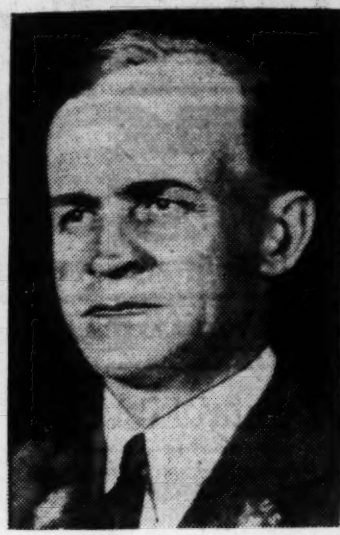

From these two facts many were quick to argue that the administration was thus revealing a distaste for the McNutt boom. This interpretation the Indians at the Mayflower did not like. Surely, they argued, Mr. Roosevelt would do nothing to embarrass their candidate, his staunch supporter and representative in the Philippine islands.

They assured themselves that the whole thing would be straightened out "when Paul gets to Washington." Meanwhile, a protest and a request that the transfer be held in abeyance had been lodged with the War Department by Senator Minton, of the McNutt political organization.

4,000 Expected Tomorrow.

At any rate the Indians were here to talk politics, build up their candidate and have a good time, so why worry? They had welcomed McNutt back to Indiana from the Philippines, where he holds the post of American high commissioner. That done, they had come on ahead to welcome him to Washington when he arrives tomorrow morning. And then they planned a gigantic reception for him.

That affair, with Senator Minton as the host, and fully half of the main floor of the Mayflower engaged for the event, was scheduled for tomorrow afternoon. Everyone who amounts to anything in Washington's Democratic circles, and many more, were expected. Some 4,000 were expected.

LEGISLATURE BACKS MISSISSIPPI PLANS

Home Exemption Measure Approved by Senate by 33-5 Vote.

JACKSON, Miss., Feb. 22.—(P)—The state administration was subjected to criticism in the house and senate today but emerged with votes to spare on proposals backed by the Governor.

Senator Ritchey accused Governor White of attempting to "pass the buck" to the legislature on the matter of working out a plan for exempting Mississippi homesteads from taxes.

Despite attacks from Senators Ritchey, Burdick and McKeighney, the exemption resolution was approved by a vote of 33 to 5.

APPROPRIATION BILL SENT LEGISLATURE

COLUMBIA, S. C., Feb. 22.—(P)—The legislature acted today to send the appropriations bill to a joint committee to iron out differences between the senate and house.

As passed by the house, the bill called for expenditures of $12,356,698, but the senate increased the figure to $13,370,321.

LOUISIANA GOVERNOR SUGGESTS SALES TAX

BATON ROUGE, La., Feb. 22.—(P)—Governor Leche announced tentatively today he would ask the legislature, which meets in May, to convert the Louisiana 2 percent "luxury" tax into a general 2 percent sales tax to finance more adequately the social security program.

EDITORS TO LAUNCH INSTITUTE TONIGHT

Make-Up, Typography Will Feature Discussions at Annual Sessions.

ATHENS, Feb. 22.—(P)—Modern trends in newspaper make-up and typography will be one of the subjects discussed at the 1938 Georgia Press Institute convening here tomorrow night.

Associate Professor Edward C. Crouse, of the Grady School of Journalism at the University of Georgia, will speak on "New Ideas Regarding Newspaper Make-Up" at Friday's session. Gilbert P. Farrar, typography expert, will direct a round-table discussion on the subject.

Farrar also will address the institute Friday morning as a guest of the Atlanta Journal.

Marion Smith, prominent Atlanta attorney and chairman of the board of regents of the University System of Georgia, will speak Saturday morning as a guest of The Atlanta Constitution.

State laws affecting newspapers will be reviewed Thursday by Willett Main Kempton, assistant professor in the Grady school. J. Roy McGinty, editor of the Calhoun Times and vice president of the Georgia Press Association, will lead a round-table discussion on the subject.

The institute will open tomorrow night with a dinner at which President Harmon W. Caldwell, of the University, will preside. Mark Ethridge, vice president and general manager of the Louisville (Ky.) Courier-Journal and Times will speak at the dinner meeting.

Several other well-known newspapermen are on the institute program. They include B. C. Forbes, editor of Forbes Magazine; W. W. Loomis, president of the National Editorial Association, and Bruce R. McCoy, field manager of the Louisiana Press Association.

Loomis and McCoy will be honored at a dinner given Thursday night by W. T. Anderson, of the Macon Telegraph.

NEW OFFICE OPENS IN LIQUOR APPEAL

Businessmen Say Quarters Have Been Established at 85 North Forsyth Street.

Circulation of a petition seeking a local option liquor election in Fulton county continued yesterday while Stuart P. Murray, representing businessmen sponsoring the petition, announced new headquarters of the group would be at 85 North Forsyth street.

"Confusion caused the wrong address and telephone number to be given out for publication in yesterday's newspapers," Murray said. "We are very sorry this occurred. It was an unintended inaccuracy which we regret."

"We will obtain telephones for headquarters as soon as we have become situated in the new establishment."

"Our petitions are being circulated through the city and county, and every day the number of qualified voters signing the petition increases. We hope to have more than the 17,000 required names within a week or ten days," said Murray.

The group leader urged Atlantans interested in having a local option election in Fulton county to obtain and sign one of the petitions, whether they have signed other petitions or not.

Five counties have set election dates, and Muscogee and Chatham county ordinaries have received petitions signed by more than the required 35 percent of qualified voters. However, these two counties have not yet set dates. Baker county, which was to have voted on liquor February 21, was enjoined by court order by dries, who attacked the constitutionality of the new liquor law.

J. MORGAN SMITH'S KIN DIES IN PENNSYLVANIA

News has been received in Atlanta of the death last week of Dr. William Roy Smith, brother of J. Morgan Smith, professor of civil engineering at Georgia Tech, in a Byrn Mawr, Pa., hospital.

He was a member of the American Historical Association, a fellow of the Texas State Historical Association and a member of Phi Beta Kappa.

$250,000,000 RELIEF DELAYED IN SENATE

Bailey Asks Communities to Pay Part of Cost of Proposed Work.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—(P)—The $250,000,000 emergency relief appropriation asked by President Roosevelt encountered a delay in the senate today when sharp debate developed over a proposal to force communities to bear more of the relief burden.

The proposal was made by Senator Bailey, Democrat, North Carolina, who asked that communities be required to contribute 25 percent of the cost of WPA work relief and 20 percent of direct relief.

The debate consumed so much time that the senate recessed until tomorrow night without reaching a final vote.

Previously the chamber voted down, 58 to 22, a proposal by Senator Bone, Democrat, Washington, to increase the $250,000,000 appropriation to $400,000,000. An attempt by Senator Hale, Republican, Maine, to cut the amount to $200,000,000 was rejected by a vote of 58 to 22.

Party lines broke on a 38-to-36 vote approving an amendment by Senator Schwellenbach, Democrat, Washington, to exempt the emergency appropriation from provisions of the Woodrum amendment. This amendment to last year's relief bill requires that relief funds be apportioned over the entire year.

Under Bailey's proposed amendment the President it would be authorized to waive the 25 percent requirement if he found a community was unable to contribute that amount.

How Senate Voted On Big Relief Fund

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—(P)—The roll call on Senator Bone's (Democrat, Washington) amendment to increase the emergency relief appropriation from $250,000,000 to $400,000,000:

NIPPONESE GAIN IN LUNG HAI SIEGE

Troops Take Two Cities, Sections Arrive at River.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 23.—(Wednesday)—(P)—Japanese columns driving southward toward the vital Lung hai railway were reported today to have made important gains at both the eastern and western ends of the far-flung battle front.

In Honan province, on the western end of the front, one column drove southward from Sihsiang and occupied Wuchin and Hwai-king, 50 miles northeast of Loyang and only a few miles north of the Yellow river.

It was believed the Japanese planned to cross the river at historic Menghsien ford, which the Chinese have used for more than 2,000 years, and strike the Lung-hai line at Loyang.

FINGERPRINTS TRAP ESCAPED CONVICT

Leonard Henson, 26, Wanted in Robbery, Theft Cases.

An escaped Morgan county convict wanted on three counts was arrested last night as he walked down Fair street and identified through fingerprints as Leonard Henson, 26, alias Henderson, police reported.

At the police station, Henson, who police said escaped February 15 from the gang where he was serving terms for armed robbery and larceny of automobiles, protested that "fingerprints don't mean a thing." He insisted his captor, Detective M. M. Coppenberger, had the wrong man.

LAINGLIE LEADING AT SEATTLE POLLS

Candidates of AFL and CIO Run Behind in Primary Race for Mayor.

SEATTLE, Feb. 22.—(P)—"What will Johnny Dore and Dave Beck do now?" Mayor Dore, completing his second non-consecutive term, was defeated in yesterday's non-partisan primary, despite the heretofore effective support of Beck's AFL union teamsters.

And the question of where they would attempt to throw their strength puzzled Seattle's voters today, as well as the two successful candidates, Councilman Arthur B. Langlie and Lieutenant Governor Victor Aloysius Meyers.

Langlie and Meyers will fight it out at the general election two weeks from today.

Meyers, former swing band leader, was supported by Harry Bridges' CIO unionists; Dore by the AFL-affiliated teamsters. And they engaged in a primary battle as bitter as that waged by Bridges and Beck for control of west coast labor.

But the combined total for Dore and Meyers was less than the vote accorded Langlie, whom both characterized as a tool of "the interests." Six other candidates trailed with minor votes.

MEXICAN WORKERS VOW FASCISM WAR

Ready To Take Up Arms, Delegates Shout.

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 22.—(P)—Three thousand delegates to the national congress of the Confederation of Mexican Workers shouted a promise today to "take up arms against Fascism" if necessary.

The defiant gesture against Fascism came when Vicente Lombardo Toledano, general secretary of the workers' syndicate, delivered a fiery speech.

Lombardo advanced the possibility of an armed uprising.

UNIVERSITY TO MARK DR. DUBOIS' BIRTH

A bronze portrait bust of Dr. William E. B. DuBois, for the past six years chairman of the department of sociology of Atlanta University, will be presented to the university today as part of the exercises commemorating Dr. DuBois' 70th birthday.

Jacket Quintet Battles Clemson '5' Tonight at Naval Armory

G. I. A. CAGERS START TOURNEY HERE THURSDAY

Savannah, Monroe, Lanier, Jordan Favorites at Warren Court.

Savannah High, the defending champion; Monroe Aggies, runner-up; Lanier High, of Macon, and Jordan High, of Columbus, appear outstanding on the eve of the annual Georgia Interscholastic Athletic Association basketball tournament which opens Thursday afternoon on the Warren arena court.

Savannah High, with a majority of the last year champions back in uniform, is considerably stronger with a number of reserves taking their places in the varsity lineup. The Blue Jackets also have capable reserves, so reports from Savannah indicate.

Monroe Aggies, runner-up to Savannah last year, finished second to Jordan in the Big Eight standings and showed unusual strength in winning from G. M. A. Monday night at Monroe.

Lanier High, always a ranking favorite in any branch of high school sports in Georgia, has practically the same team as last year. The Poets recently defeated the strong University of Georgia freshman team on the Athens court and has been coasting along, waiting for the tournament to open.

Jordan High, with two of the greatest forwards in prep basketball history, ran away with the Big Eight schedule and won 10 straight games without a defeat. The Columbus team banks on its aggressiveness and has its slogan, "A good offense is better than a good defense."

Atlanta's five entries and sponsors, Tech High, Commercial High, Boys' High, G. M. A. and Marist, appear to have only an outside chance to win.

Both Boys' High and Tech High have shown considerable improvement in recent games and both teams have been working slowly since their last appearance on the courts last Friday. They postponed a final round game of the Big Eight in order to get ready for the tournament.

Marist showed power in the city invitation and along with G. M. A. may come along fast in the G. I. A. tournament.

It will be Marist's first appearance in competition since joining the association at its last meeting here.

LLOYD THOMAS KILLED IN FALL

DERBY, England, Feb. 22.—(P) Hugh Lloyd Thomas, one of the British empire's most distinguished sportsmen, was fatally injured today when he was thrown from his horse, Periwinkle 2nd, in the Harrington Hunters steeplechase.

The 49-year-old British minister plenipotentiary to the Paris embassy, for seven years secretary to the Duke of Windsor when he was Prince of Wales, died a few minutes after being carried into the paddock. His neck was broken in the fall.

Thomas was in training for the Grand National at Aintree, March 25, in which he was scheduled to ride his own horse, Royal Mail, last year's winner and one of the favorites. He asked for leave from his duties in the embassy to prepare for the race.

Russell Boys, Girls Beat North Fulton

Russell High's basketball teams captured a double-header from the North Fulton cagers yesterday afternoon on the Russell court, the boys winning, 19 to 16, and the girls, 15 to 12.

In the girls' game, Ashmore, Russell forward, was high-point-scorer with eight markers.

The Wildcat boys, making the most of long shots, were led by Kirkland with seven points.

C. W. Bone Latest Ace Club Member

C. W. Bone was admitted to Atlanta's Hole-in-One Club Tuesday afternoon when he sank a tee shot on the third green at the James L. Key course. Bone used a No. 3 iron for the 229-yard drive. His ball hit a few feet in front of the pin and rolled straight into the cup.

It was the sixth ace to be made on Atlanta's first and year and Bone plays with Ned Byers, Tom Clay and B. F. Sanders.

They All Came and Skated--With the World's Title at Stake

STOCKHOLM, Sweden.—(By Mail.)—Just ahead of us, as we came in, there was hanging the American flag. It looked very beautiful and honest and good, hanging there from a rafter in the skating hall where the world's championship was to be skated.

There were Swedish and Norwegian and Finnish flags about. And there were flags from Austria and Germany and from England.

I lifted my hat to Old Glory and then sat down to wait. There wasn't much happening, except that the crowd soon filled all the seats and aisles and all the standing room and there were thousands outside wanting to get in.

There was just one flurry and that was when the royal family came into the box and all the photographers came up and let go with their flashes. Everyone stood and there was a ripple of laughter over the crowd when they helped the little Princess, who is about three years old, up on a seat and she almost fell out of the box trying to look over at the ice.

An announcer came out and bawled something in Swedish and then stepped back.

And out they came—12 of them—the greatest figure skaters in the world—if one excepts a certain Sonja Henie from Norway who quit all this for the big money. But these were the greatest amateur figure skaters in the world, representing six nations.

"The Ice Princesses," the Swedish sports writers called them. And they looked it—in their short skating costumes which are works of the fashion-makers' art. They must be made just right so that in the spins the skirts will stand out at the right angle.

There is nothing quite so graceful as this figure skating. They seemed to move on streaks of silver as their skates moved fast in the warm-up sprints which loosen up all the muscles. It is only when they come close by that one can hear the hiss of the skates on the ice.

THE CHAMPION.

The champion, Miss Cecilia Colledge, from England, got a great hand. But it was nothing compared with the one which greeted Megan Taylor, another English girl. She had captivated the crowd the day before in the first day's tests and she was their darling.

She felt it, too, and so, I think, did the champion. It's odd, how things go. A youngster, leaning over the barrier, had dropped his mittens. Miss Colledge skated up and retrieved them, handing them to him. There was a bit of applause, but the crowd thought it a bit theatrical and most of them let it go.

It was curious—there were two Swedish girls in the lists but they had picked out Miss Taylor as the one likely to be the next champion. She had something—a dash and a verve that Miss Colledge couldn't match. And Miss Taylor felt the crowd with her. She skated that day as she had never skated before. Miss Colledge seemed to lose some of her edge and not until her last dizzy spin did she really come through with a champion's performance. It wasn't enough, as it turned out. But that is another story. Miss Taylor won. She is a tall, well-built English blonde. She executed the dangerous and difficult acrobatic figures with a dash that was a bit breath-taking. When they take off and turn in the air to come down on those skates—going away—well, it's a real thrill.

Megan Taylor was giving them a real show. They all were, for that matter. But it was Taylor's day. She gave them all she had and it was enough. She can skate as well as Henie, but she doesn't have that plump, fresh look that years of Norwegian air and smoked fish have given the movie queen. The Norwegian newspapermen will tell you that Sonja Henie's personality would have won all the close ones for her—had there been any close ones.

MISS HEDY STENUF.

Miss Hedy Stenuf, who was skating for America, was third, despite a fall. She had the prettiest costume. It was white with brilliant red cherries embroidered on the suit and the cap.

She was making one of the difficult backward turns when her skates cut right out of the ice and she sat down and went sliding backwards across the ice. The look on her face was one of complete horror—she had no tights and her bare legs were sliding across ice which was as cold as ice normally is. She got right up and went on without a bit of a flinch, giving them the most difficult figure of all. It earned her a lot of applause and she finished strong.

Three of them fell. There was a husky girl there from Norway who looked like a great running guard, having the legs for one. She fell and went sliding along in a sitting position. The look on her face was most comical. She apparently was very pained. The Swedes never laugh at falls. An American audience would have guffawed.

There was a young Swedish girl of 13, Miss Britta Rahlen, who should be a champion a few years hence. She gave them a great show, making all the required figures and those of her own design without a flaw.

They all came and skated—four minutes each—with the championship of the world riding on their skates. And when it was done, it was Taylor—and the crowd yelling for her. It was a new champion and the first time I'd seen a world's championship decided in skating.

THE JUDGING.

The method of judging was new. It was one that might be adopted at prize fights in America. It would do away with any shenanigans and any "mind-changing" once the fights are done.

At the skating meets the judges sit in widely separated positions in the stadium. They have a number of cards with numerals and fractions on them. As each skater finished, a gong would ring. The first judge would hold up his cards, indicating the points he awarded. As it rang again, the next judge would hold up his cards. And so on.

The crowd sees them. It would be a great act at a fight, to have the judges hold up, from various corners of the ring, their cards with the award of points for that particular round.

HE HATES THE MOVIES.

Going back to town, one of the skating officials said: "You don't mind if I hate the American movie people, do you?" "Well, that seems a bit harsh. Why?" "Well, they have made life miserable for every judge and skating official."

"How come?" "By making Miss Henie a movie star and a wealthy woman. Now, every mother in all Scandinavia who has a daughter thinks she has a future Henie. And they hate us when we don't place their particular progeny first in the meets. It's awful."

"In America," I said, "they all try to look like Shirley Temple."

"I guess it's just really a cruel world," he said. And we let it go at that.

J. P. C. DISPLAYS FINE TEAMWORK AT GROSS DINNER

Beans Disappear as Cagers Get Fill; Rain Falls Unnoticed.

By JACK TROY.
Herman Gross had the Jewish Progressive Club basketball team out for a steak dinner at his home last night, but when the boys departed all they could talk about was "beans, beans, beans."

Mr. Gross has a special recipe for beans that beats all else. I mean string beans. The event was held outdoors and there was a bit of rain, so someone said.

But you could not prove by the club players that there was any rain. Because they were so en-grossed in eating beans, they never noticed it.

Joe Zimmerman, governor of athletics, was finally discovered over in a dark corner. And he was sagging a bit in the middle. Questioned closely, Zimmerman admitted he had eaten 13 steak sandwiches, and an empty bucket in front of him gave mute testimony of what had happened to the beans they formerly contained.

DIDN'T HELP.

Meyer Balser, manager of the team, stuck pretty close to the "lime-light," as did Mackey Klein, but it didn't help a bit. Their work on the beans put the steaks to shame and none of it went unnoticed.

At the conclusion of the delightful dinner—they said it rained, but, after all, into each life some rain must fall—Mr. Gross announced there would be no speeches.

The applause that followed was more deafening than the most severe thunderstorm in the city's history. Happy Ginsberg and Steve Browdy were heard from in an impromptu fashion. And the stories they told were greeted most vociferously. But, for lack of space, or for some reason, they must be omitted here.

Balser complained very vigorously to Mr. Gross that he had known about the recipe for beans for 21 years.

AN OLD RECIPE.

"But what about the cheese cake?" inquired Mr. Gross, "that's an old recipe, too."

"Let's not mention cheese cake in the same breath, so to speak, with those beans," said Meyer. "I must insist either on having the recipe or another invitation for dinner."

And that's the way all the others felt about it.

Among those present were Charles Shinas, president; Mackey Klein, vice president; Max Mendle, secretary; Max Feldman, Jack Mazier and Luke Rosenberg, members of the board of governors; Abe Berman, trainer; Buster Herman, assistant coach; A. J. Gross, brother of the host, and members of the team, including Happy Ginsberg, Gabby Greenberg, Pony Minsk, Big Kitty and Little Kitty Katz, Steve Browdy, Barney Medintz, Elliot Rubin and Emanuel Kulbersh.

GAMES TO COME.

Shep Lauter, the fine Progressive coach, had one eye on the steak and beans and another on his proteges, thinking of the games to come, and between the two, he had quite a time.

Sam Isacoff, who is an inseparable part of the club functions, was his usual merry self and saw to it that the visiting scribes, including Ed Miles, Melvin Pazol and Harry Shaw, had never a dull moment.

A. J. Gross, the host's brother, who is from New Orleans, has promised to see that the club players are royally entertained on their forthcoming trip—which will include the Mardi Gras, but they have not been promised any improvement on the sort of food they were served last night.

Ex-Mat King Shows Here Tonight

World's heavyweight wrestling champion until he ran into Steve (Crusher) Casey at Boston less than a fortnight ago, Don Louis Thesz, young Hungarian from St. Louis, tonight will appear at the Warren Arena, where he faces Billy Bartush, clever European grappler, in a 90-minute feature.

Thesz, still ranked among the first five, is a polished, highly skillful matman, as Atlantans who witnessed his all-victorious appearances at the ball park last summer will recall. In Bartush he meets an opponent who is rugged and who has demonstrated class here in recent matches.

Doug Wycoff, who continues to knock off all comers, collides with Rowdy Babe Zaharias in the semi-final. Wycoff has won high favor with his work here and will get another test tonight.

Paul Harper, S. M. U. grid product, and Red Ryan, fiery Irishman, open the card at 8:30.

Here's Finish of Rich Santa Anita Race

Here's how they finished in yesterday's $50,000 added Santa Anita derby. Stagehand is first, Dauber is second and Sun Egret third. Earle Sande is trainer of winner.

Stagehand Wins $50,000 Race

SANTA ANITA PARK, LOS ANGELES, Feb. 22.—(P)—Maxwell Howard's Stagehand captured the fourth running of the $50,000 added Santa Anita derby today, outdriving a crack field of three-year-olds to the wild excitement of upwards of 52,000 spectators.

The Foxcatcher Farm's Dauber, sporting the racing silks of Millionaire William du Pont, finished second, half a length back of Stagehand, and Sun Egret, "the people's choice," after setting the pace throughout the mile and one furlong struggle, ran a close third.

The huge throng of fans, overflowing the grandstand areas into the infield, wagered a total of $239,746 on the race—biggest handle for one race at Santa Anita's flourishing track.

Jockey Jack Westrope, following instructions from a trainer well versed in the sport of kings—the one and only Earl Sande—brought Stagehand up from the pack as the field of 15 plunged around the last turn, and the noble, shiny bay son of Sickle responded.

The winner's time was 1 minute 50 2-5 seconds over a fast track.

Victory to Howard, wealthy Dayton (Ohio) sportsman, was worth $2,775 purse money, and the backers of Stagehand were repaid to the merry tune of $13,200, $7,200 and $4,200 across the board.

Dauber, stablemate of Foxcatcher's Fairy Hill, winner of the 1937

200 'OUTSIDERS' TO BE ADMITTED FOR TIGER TILT

Clemson Is Only Team To Defeat Tech at Armory.

By JACK TROY.

The only team that has beaten Georgia Tech at the naval armory will play the Golden Jackets tonight in a stirring game of basketball, beginning at 8 o'clock.

Clemson's Tigers beat the current Tech team as sophomores. It was quite a battle, with the Tigers nosing out the Jackets by a couple of points.

And another real battle is in prospect tonight. The general public will be interested because 200 tickets are available. Two hundred supporters of Tech will be permitted to see both tonight's and next Monday night's closing home game with Auburn.

Coach Roy Mundorff is inclined to think Clemson might repeat. "The Tigers are strong this season. I don't know much about their personnel, but McFadden, football star, plays center."

TECH STARTERS.

Mundorff plans to start Bill Jordan and Ed Jones at forwards, with Bo Johnston at center and Fletcher Sims and Junior Anderson at guards.

It's the last chance for this team to even matters with Clemson, and they plan to make the most of it. None of them have forgotten the beating they took as sophomores.

The same season the basketball team beat the Jackets, the football team also triumphed by a one-point margin.

This is the big game in this year's basketball rivalry with Clemson, since it is to be the only one. And it easily may be the best game of the home season.

LOST ONLY TWO.

Tech has lost only two games this season, dropping decisions to Tulane and L. S. U. on a recent trip. And the Jackets hope to enter the tournament with a record that good.

The annual Southeastern conference tourney will follow their final game with Auburn. The Jackets barely edged the Tigers at the Lovellville Village.

Bo Johnston was out early yesterday sharpening his goal-shooting eye and he soon was joined by Sims, Jordan, Anderson, Jones, et al.

They're looking for tough competition from the Tigers tonight.

Lampe Takes Over Georgia Cagemen

Frank Johnson's Successor Coached Four Straight Championship Teams at Carroll.

By ED MILLER.
ATHENS, Ga., Feb. 22.—Georgia's much orphaned cage squad is under the guiding hand of a new mentor for the fourth time this season.

Coach Elmer Lampe, recently selected head basketball coach and gridiron line mentor, took over the Bulldog basketball team, replacing Frank Johnson, who left Sunday to join Harry Mehrle at Ole Miss.

In a talk with the freshman and varsity squads Coach Lampe indicated that he would not attempt to drastically change the team's style of play since it was so late in the season, but that he would make a few minor changes.

In the practice session he demonstrated a new type pass and gave the squad instruction on various other phases of the game. The Bulldogs have only two more games before they leave for New Orleans for the Southeastern Conference tournament. They meet Erskine on Friday of this week and then go to Macon for an encounter with Mercer next Monday.

Before coming to Georgia Coach Lampe established a remarkable record at Carroll College, in Wisconsin. During the four years that he coached there his team won four straight championships and was not defeated on its home court for 28 straight games.

In discussing his plans he stated that he would give the squad an indication of the type basketball he would teach next year and that as soon as the season is over he will have a spring practice for next year's candidates.

Of the starting five he will lose Captain Jack Farren, Olin Thompson and Tom Kennedy by graduation but will have one of the strongest freshman squads in the south to pick from in replacing them.

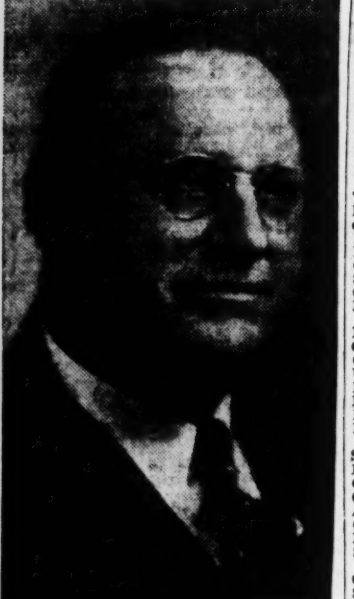

Alex McCaskill and Cecil Kelly are sophomores.

Danning, Lieber Sign 1938 Giant Contracts

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Feb. 22.—(P)—Manager Bill Terry, of the New York Giants, announced today that Catcher Harry Danning and Outfielder Henry Lieber had signed 1938 contracts.

Both are here working out with the club. Terry said that Danning was given a raise over what he received last year but declined to say whether the salary reached "into five figures."

The club held a brief workout during the day.

"THIS MAKIN'S TOBACCO TASTES BETTER ALL THE TIME!"—SAYS ED DURRELL TO HIS WIFE

70 fine roll-your-own cigarettes in every 2-oz. tin of Prince Albert

Copyright, 1933, R. J. Reardon Tobacco Co., Winston-Salem, N. C.

ED DURRELL is about to get some real smokin' comfort as he settles down and fixes himself a mild, tasty Prince Albert "makin's" cigarette. Says Ed to his better-half, Eugenia: "This P. A. 'makin's' tobacco tastes better all the time. Plenty of rich body, yet it's real mild on the tongue and there's no bitter taste." Says Mrs. Durrell: "Well, if it tastes as good as it smells, I can understand why you and your friends praise Prince Albert." (A tip for you pipe-smokers, too!)

CHAMP FAVORED TO KEEP CROWN BY 3-TO-1 ODDS

$100,000 Gate Seen; Main Go To Start About 9 O'Clock.

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—(P)—The latest clinical experiment in heavyweight pugilism will be conducted for the benefit of more than $100,000 worth of box office trade, in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night.

It calls for Champion Joe Louis to operate upon Nathan Mann, the hand-picked Connecticut challenger, in 15 rounds—or less—in defense of the world heavyweight title.

The novelty of the first indoor match in 18 years for boxing's most lucrative crown, plus the long-shot chance that something surprising may happen, has focused interest on a bout that otherwise shapes up chiefly as a "tuneup" for the champion's forthcoming $1,000,000 date with Germany's Max Schmeling, in June.

Betting odds tonight remained more conservative than expert opinion. Broadway bookmakers held Louis at 1 to 3 to win, even money to score a knockout.

It may be axiomatic that anything can happen now in the prize ring. Jim Braddock boomed the popularity of long shots. But it's also axiomatic in the pugilistic business that there's no reasonable profit in losing a heavyweight title indoors. Perhaps an exception is needed to prove the rule but critics doubt it.

Mann may or may not extend Louis. The New Haven entry, at 22, has a record that indicates he is by no means a pushover. He may be slow but he can punch.

He has everything to gain and nothing much to lose by "shooting the works"—except his equilibrium.

The consensus is that if Mann's handlers send him out rushing, in the hope of making right-hand connections early, he will most likely wind up on the floor in an early round.

If Mann, on the other hand, adopts shell-like tactics or shuns forcing gestures, the fight conceivably can go the distance, be very dull to watch, and prove once more that Louis is no Jesse Owens on his feet.

Louis and Mann will go direct from their training camps tomorrow morning to the Garden for the official weighing, scheduled at noon. The champion is expected to scale slightly over 200 pounds, Mann, 190.

Promoter Mike Jacobs, with an advance sale of $70,000 today, predicted a near-sellout. Of the 19,000 available seats in the Garden, 3,000 are unreserved and will be put on sale late tomorrow at $3. It is expected 5,000 or more rooters from Mann's home state will invade the Garden.

The rain go, slated for 9 o'clock Atlanta time, will be broadcast over a WJZ-NBC network.

'Iron Man' Anderson

Tech Guard in Basketball To Rejoin Football Team as Guard at Conclusion of Hardwood Season.

By Jack Troy

They're calling Junior Anderson, "Iron Man" Anderson, out at Georgia Tech. The big blond guard of the basketball team will rejoin the football team in spring practice just as soon as the hardwood season is over.

"Are you counting very strongly on Anderson?" someone asked Mack Tharpe, line coach, yesterday.

"Well," responded Tharpe, "not any more than I am counting on eating dinner tonight." (Editor's note: Tharpe is a gourmet of the two-fisted variety.)

Tharpe pointed out that Anderson was changed from full-back to guard during the early part of the 1937 football season, learned the assignments readily and was very valuable in the Alabama and Florida games.

"Alabama aimed three plays right at him on that goal line stand, and he stopped them all. He looked very good against Florida, too."

"I'll say we're counting on him. He has the sort of size and ability we need at guard."

Dynamite Wilder Gave 'Em a Thrill.
Coach Alexander never lets anybody outdo him in story telling. They were recalling the recent Tech-Georgia basketball game yesterday, and Coach Wilder was saying what a thriller it was and how a mistake in timing caused the game to run past the finish.

"I guess it was quite a game, at that," responded Coach Alex. "I remember one game we played with Georgia that was better than that."

"We had a boy named Dynamite Wilder, and he was standing right on the center line on one side of the court when he changed to guard at the time and saw him raise his arm to end the game, which Georgia was leading by a point."

"Wilder dipped down almost to the floor and let fly with the ball. Well, sir, the ball went so high it was lost in the shadows and the fans were still hearing the ring of the time when the ball dropped through the basket without even touching the rim."

Tech Lost One Like That, Too.
Coach Alex paused slightly for breath, and then continued:

"We lost a game like that to Mercer once. The Bears had a fellow named Bob Gamble. He was standing on the center of the court when he saw the time to start to shoot his gun. We were leading Mercer by a point."

"Gamble simply let fly at the basket and the ball just was in the air when the gun fired. It dropped through cleanly."

But the greatest game of basketball I ever saw was played in a tournament at the old auditorium. North Carolina State was playing some team."

"There were three overtime periods, and the reason for it was that each time the timer shot his gun to end a period, the ball was in the air to start the game again. I forget how State finally came out."

Whatta Game!
Ask Claud Bond.

Claud Bond, Southern league umpire who officiated in the Tech-Georgia game at Athens, was endeavoring to tell President Trammell Scott all about it the other afternoon.

"Gee, whiz," said Bond, "there was 30 minutes left to play and Georgia was two seconds behind. I mean, there was 30 seconds left to play and the Bulldogs were trailing by two minutes. Well, I don't guess I know what I mean to say. But whatta game it was!"

A ball game is rather absorbing, at that, when the chief timer forgets to keep a check on the watch.

Amateur Baseball Meet Set Tonight
A meeting of Atlanta, City and Scott amateur baseball teams will be held at 7:30 o'clock tonight at Trammell Scott's store at 66 Broad street.

Pete Buckley will be in charge of the meeting and any teams that wish to enter are invited to have representatives present.

FINAL SERVICES TODAY FOR MRS. G. T. R. FRASER

Funeral services for Mrs. Gilbert T. R. Fraser, who died Monday at her home, 868 Juniper street, after a short illness, will be conducted at 3 o'clock this afternoon from the residence with the Rev. Lester Rumble officiating.

Burial will be in West View cemetery. Widely known for her work in behalf of underprivileged children, Mrs. Fraser was an early president and many times an officer of the Sheltering Arms Day Nursery. She also organized a nursery at the Whittier Mills, which was later taken over and operated by the mill.

Worried Inquiries From All Parts of Nation Worry Recorder Leach, Who Is Worrying About Just What To Say to Worried Letter Writers.

The "worrying rock," Hapeville's contribution to prison reform, is under investigation by interested persons in other parts of the nation, Hapeville Recorder Neill Leach said yesterday.

Following widespread publication of stories and pictures of Lamar Couch serving a drunk-ness sentence on the "worrying rock," Leach has been deluged with inquiries and comments, facetious and otherwise, from far-flung parts of the country.

Some of the inquiries from court officials and lawyers are investigating the possibilities of the "worrying rock" as a new method of punishment. Others, attracted by the publicity given the novel sentence in several national magazines, are semi-serious requests for information about the "new cure for drinking."

One letter, from Lee Epstein, New York lawyer and court attaché, set out a series of questions, the answers to which will be incorporated in a thesis he is writing on "new methods of treating minor infractions in the courts."

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Senator Russell, Democrat, Georgia, disputed today an assertion by Senator Wagner, Democrat, New York, that public opinion favored enactment of the anti-lynching bill.

He inserted in the Congressional Record a number of editorials from northern and western newspapers which he said represented a "fair cross-section" of the national viewpoint. Some were for the measure, some against.

Thousands of Acres Under Water; Two Lives Lost as Streams Rise.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Feb. 22.—(AP)—Arkansas' flood "danger point" shifted suddenly today to the extreme southwestern corner of the state where two main levees on the Red river broke.

Thousands of acres of rich plantations were flooded and two lives lost in the area. Rescue patrols, operating southeast from Fulton, brought in scores of river folk who had taken refuge on house-tops and in trees when the breaks caught them.

Most of the farmers in the area already had moved their families and stock to higher ground. The river was gauged at 35.1 feet at Fulton, more than 10 feet above flood stage. Observers predicted it would pass the all-time high water mark of 35.6 feet established in 1927.

First casualties of current general flood conditions in Arkansas were two negro children, members of a tenant family on the Jum Anderson plantation, six miles southeast of Fulton. They fell from a rescue boat and drowned.

The Ouachita river in the extreme southern part of the state continued to rise at Camden, reaching 41.1 feet today, 15 feet above flood stage.

Leaders Join in Tribute To Francis Clarke's Memory

Expressions of regret at the death of Francis W. Clarke, executive editor of The Constitution, continued to come yesterday to The Constitution.

Deeply grieved to learn Francis Clarke has lost great battle. He typified best traditions of American journalism. Deepest sympathies to family and associates.

ROBERT STRICKLAND.
President, Trust Company of Georgia.

I was deeply shocked to learn of the passing of Francis Clarke. My contacts with him during the past year were but slight, but the sincerity and genuineness of the man were outstanding, and I appreciate the great personal loss that his other associates have suffered.

HERBERT O. STABLER.
United States Forest Service.

Shocked to learn this morning of the passing of Francis W. Clarke. My sincere sympathy.

ROBERT W. WOODRUFF.

Francis Clarke has been for years my closest friend. I know he will be missed.

JUDGE HUGH M. DORSEY.
Fulton Superior Court.

I am sincerely grieved at the untimely death of Francis Clarke, whom I counted as one of my best friends. I have known and admired him for many years, not only for his very fine character and charming personality, but for his ability as one of the outstanding newspapermen of the south. Please convey to his family my deepest sympathy.

A. S. HARDY.
Editor and Publisher,
The Gainesville (Ga.) News.

Please permit me to express my sympathy in the loss of Francis Clarke. He was an outstanding man in every respect and will certainly be missed by us all.

BAKSTER MADDOX.
Baxter Maddox Agency.

I deeply sympathize in the loss of Francis W. Clarke. It was my pleasure to work with him several months last year, and I enjoyed that association. You have lost an able man, a man of lovable character.

CULLEN B. GOSNELL.
Professor, Emory University.

I cannot refrain from saying that of all the newspapermen I have ever met I admired in Francis Clarke the clear understanding of foreign affairs. I admired the fairness of his political views, his fearlessness as a journalist; his enthusiasm for our local conditions, and, above everything else, the man himself.

ROBERT HECHT.
President, International Corporation.

It was with deep regret we read of the death of Francis W. Clarke. His passing will be a source of great sorrow, as well as a great loss to The Constitution, his many friends, acquaintances and admirers. Please accept the sincere sympathy of the Atlanta Chapter, American Red Cross, in the passing of this outstanding man.

JAMES H. REEVES.
Executive director, Atlanta Chapter, A. R. C.

I want to express, with the thousands of others, my personal regret at the death of Francis W. Clarke. He has meant much to us in parent-teacher work, writing editorials in the interest of enrollment campaigns, parent-teacher week and our page. Not only your paper, but Atlanta and Georgia has lost a constructive and valuable citizen.

MRS. J. ELMER SLIDER.
President, Atlanta Council of Parent-Teacher Associations.

May I express to the family of Mr. Clarke and his associates, my own personal sympathy in the recent loss of such a fine and valuable man. It is a loss to the entire state of Georgia.

CLARENCE H. CALHOUN.
Attorney.

My most sincere sympathy in the loss of your business associate and good friend.

R. K. RAMBO.
R. K. Rambo Company.

I did not know him well, but in the few times I have had the pleasure of seeing him in The Constitution office, he was so courteous and pleasant that I looked forward with pleasure to meeting him. Georgia, the south and the Democratic party suffer a distinct loss by his passing.

PAUL F. AKIN.
Attorney, Cartersville, Ga.

Please accept my deepest sympathy and regret to learn of the death of Francis Clarke. He was a fine, clear, splendid, able man.

CARL F. HUTCHESON.
Attorney, Atlanta.

Sincerely regret to learn of the death of Francis Clarke. I sympathize with you in the loss of such a splendid and valuable associate.

S. Noble, John Oliver, Dr. J. Frank Stainback, H. H. Trotter and John Davis Willingham.

Honorary pallbearers were Mr. Clarke's fellow members of the Ten Club.

In this group were Dr. M. L. Brittain, F. J. Paxon, T. K. Glenn, Judge Marcus W. Beck, Judge Samuel H. Sibley, Judge Arthur G. Powell, William G. Davis, Mel R. Wilkins, Judge Frank Jenkins, E. Clem Powers, Dr. J. R. McCain, Robert B. Pegram, Dr. Louie D. Newton and Raymond A. Kline.

Honorary Pallbearers.
Another group of honorary pallbearers represented the Georgia Press Association.

These were John Paschall, Frank Kempton, W. S. Kirkpatrick, Otis A. Brumby, Albert S. Hardy, W. T. Anderson, Hugh J. Rowe, A. Belmont Dennis, W. R.

Frier Jr., J. Roy McGinty, L. W. Moore and Hal M. Stanley.

Forming an honorary escort were the men and women of The Constitution's news, editorial and photographic departments.

Scores of automobiles were parked around the chapel, and most of these formed the procession that followed the hearse to the cemetery.

Six motorcycle patrolmen, detailed to the funeral by Captain Jack Malcom and Lieutenant W. M. Weaver, moved at the head of the cortege, halting traffic at intersections so the procession would proceed uninterruptedly along the route to Oakland cemetery.

There the Rev. Mr. Will read the final service as Mr. Clarke's many friends stood with bowed heads.

Mayor Hartsfield headed a delegation of men prominent in the city's political life attending the rites.

Surviving Mr. Clarke are his wife, the former Miss Laura Belle Burdine; a brother, Edward Young Clarke, of Chicago, and a nephew, Samuel Clarke, of Atlanta.

Chicago Publisher Hits U. S. Subsidies.

DES MOINES, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Colonel Frank Knox, Chicago publisher, tonight proposed that the Republican party return to the "plain folks of America" by sponsoring repeal of the "excessively high tariff subsidy" to industry and halting crop control payments to the farmer.

"I do not favor government subsidies for anyone," he said in an address prepared for delivery before the Iowa Republican Washington Day dinner. "That is not what governments are created for. Certainly I am opposed to subsidizing one class of businessmen and refusing subsidy to another."

"Let us subsidize neither."

Ex-Kaiser Learns To Spell Tennessee

KINGSPORT, Tenn., Feb. 22.

(AP)—Wilhelm Hohenzollern, the former Kaiser of Germany, at last knows how to spell "Tennessee."

The authority for this is Miss Dorothy Jane Sullivan, a pretty 16-year-old high school girl, who has been exchanging birthday greetings with the Kaiser for the last eight years.

Both were born on January 27. Miss Sullivan sent the Kaiser a card eight years ago. He never has failed to send her greetings in return.

"This is the first year that the card has ever carried the proper spelling of Tennessee," she said.

"The spelling heretofore has always been 'Zennessee.'"

American Girl Refuses To Flee
Japanese Peril

HSUCHOW, China, Feb. 22.—(UP)—A lone white girl known to the Chinese as "The Angel of Anhwei," tonight held the fort at the Wells of Szellinsin—a Presbyterian mission 50 miles south of here—rejecting all efforts of American consular officials to move her from the danger zone.

The "angel"—listed on the Presbyterian board of missions' roster as Miss Dorothy Clawson, of Montclair, N. J.—is the only woman foreigner remaining in the battle-scarred area between here and the Hwai river.

This young and extremely good-looking missionary has continued teaching at the tiny school she is directly in the path of any Japanese advance on Hsuehchow.

"I don't quite know what to do," she said, smiling. "I'm not trying to be funny about this, but someone has got to stay and protect the property here."

"If I should leave, perhaps I would not be allowed to return. I only hope we don't starve."

"Hillbilly" Party Is Compliment To Miss Mary Floding, Mr. Brooks

By Sally Forth.

THE spirit of "them thar hills" prevailed on Clairmont road last evening when 24 "hillbillies" gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Clapp to do honor to that popular bridal couple, Mary Floding and Frederick Brooks. Mountain merriment reigned supreme and the costumes in which the guests were attired would have done credit to the biggest "shindig" assembling the cream of the hills' "social set."

The attractive home formed an effective setting for the party, with its hillbilly decorations of pine cones, mountain shrubs and its light from oil lamps and many candles. The host and hostess were arrayed in typical costumes, Mrs. Clapp wearing a ruffled skirt, a shirtwaist and a black knitted shawl, and Mr. Clapp wearing overalls and a plaid shirt. The honor guests portrayed the typical mountain couple in their Sunday best.

As yesterday was George Washington's birthday, the guests did homage to the Father of Our Country, Bond Almond making a scintillating address on "George Washington and the Mule." Eugene Tiller, one of the bachelors present, elected to give the married couples good advice in typical bachelor fashion. A feature of the evening's entertainment was the old-fashioned square dance with Hal Milner calling the figures. A country fiddler delighted the guests with that tuneful "mountain music," so important a part of any gathering in the hills.

Home-cured hams featured the menu, which was typical of a mountain "spread" with all the delicious "victuals" appropriate. The whole evening's entertainment proved an occasion of unusual merriment and one that will long be remembered by each of those fortunate enough to be present.

FOR the past three weeks there has been a daily stream of people—delivery men, friends and strangers—going into Mary McCarty Dunlap's home with the oddest assortment of boxes and packages. Finally, Virginia Pegram Harrison, who recently moved across the street from Mary, became consumed with curiosity at the apparent "laying-in" of so vast a quantity of supplies and couldn't refrain from questioning Mary. Did she expect the recession to become worse and was she laying up for a rainy day? Was a food shortage on its way, or just what was it all about?

Virginia has been away and hadn't heard that Mary was chairman of the big and exciting bridge party which Rabun Gap is giving on Friday at the Piedmont Driving Club to raise funds for the worthy mountain school. As soon as that was explained to her she understood the delivery of the numerous packages, for they will be prizes at the party. Mary's attic is a storehouse for the gifts that are to be given as prizes and for the country store, which will be a novel feature. A prize will be awarded at each of the 100 tables and individual favors will be given the 500 guests. Prizes will include hosiery, canned goods, groceries, hams, lamps, perfume, lingerie, bottled soft drinks, candies, novelties and four grand "grand prizes."

It isn't too late to make a reservation for the party and anyone wishing to do so is asked to call Mary Armstrong Sams at Hemlock 8445-J.

Democratic Women Will Perfect Party Plans on Friday

Mrs. Max E. Land, president, and Mrs. C. A. Rhodes, chairman of the ways and means committee of Fulton County Democratic Woman's Club, call a meeting of club members on Friday morning at 10:30 o'clock in the Georgia ballroom of the Henry Grady hotel.

Plans will be completed for the benefit bridge party to be held on March 12 in the Dixie ballroom of the Henry Grady hotel, the proceeds to be applied to the reception to be given by the Fulton County Democratic Woman's Club for the Rural-Urban Woman's conference, when Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt will be guest of honor. Mrs. Roosevelt will come to Atlanta to speak to the Rural-Urban Woman's conference March 29. The number of tables is limited, and reservations for the bridge party should be made as early as possible. Handsome prizes will be awarded, and committee chairmen will be announced later by Mrs. Land and Mrs. Rhodes.

Weds at Brilliant Church Ceremony

Mrs. William W. Conard, who before her marriage which was solemnized at All Saints Episcopal church last week, was Miss Adelaide Fleming, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Fleming. Mr. and Mrs. Conard are honeymooning in Florida and Cuba, and upon their return will form attractive additions to the young married contingent of society here.

The Misses Bobo Are Entertained.

Those two sisters, Miss Mary Bobo and Martha Bobo, of Hapeville, popular brides-elect, were honor guests at the miscellaneous shower given last evening by Miss Clara McCord Brown at her home in Hapeville. The hostess was assisted in entertaining by Mesdames G. H. Fowler and E. M. Brittain, her sisters.

Guests included Misses Sarah Hucksby, Mary Grubb, Elizabeth Hendrix, Bethel Upchurch, Hazel Wilder, Beulah Clay, Mildred Thomas, Caroline Fowler, Montez Durham, Frances Clark, Elizabeth Long, Aileen Crawford, Bessie Raven, Eugenia Lee, Mrs. Ida Bobo and Mrs. Herman Scott.

Dr. and Mrs. Ben F. Holtzendorf were hosts at a miscellaneous shower and informal party Monday evening at their Woodward way residence in compliment to the Misses Bobo. The event took place in the recreation room, which was decorated with jonquils, hyacinths and pussy willow.

Mrs. DeWitt Butler, sister of the hosts, Misses Carolyn Heeden and Frances Butler assisted in entertaining, and important guests at the party were former grammar school teachers of the brides-elect, Mrs. Thomas Lewis, Misses Josephine Wells and Evelyn Smith, who are principals of public schools.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Bobo give a family party today at their home on Beechwood avenue, as a complimentary gesture to the Misses Bobo, their sisters.

Ave Maria Club. The Ave Maria Club of the immaculate Conception church will sponsor a spring outing for members and friends on Sunday afternoon. Miss Mary Huey, president, requests members to meet at the church at 2 o'clock.

Club Plans Dance. The Italian-American Club of Atlanta will entertain at an informal dance on Saturday evening from 9 to 12 o'clock in the Pompeian room of the Biltmore hotel. P. Walter Lanier is chairman of the entertainment committee.

Prenuptial Parties Planned To Honor April Bride-Elect

Miss Elizabeth McGahee, whose marriage to Maurice Davis will be an interesting event of April 2, will be honor guest at the miscellaneous shower at which Miss Marie Sheldon will be hostess on Saturday afternoon at her home on Fifth street. This event will inaugurate a series of interesting parties planned in compliment to Miss McGahee preceding her marriage.

Miss Nellie Margaret Gilroy will give a luncheon on March 5 for the bride-elect, and on March 6 Miss McGahee will share honors with a trio of other brides-elect, Misses Sarah Fitzpatrick, Martha Knapp, and Ruth Stafford, at the tea to be given by Misses Ruth and Dorothy Layfield at their home on Rock Springs road.

On the evening of March 17 Miss Elizabeth Lovett and Mrs. H. K. Grant will entertain at a bridge party at their home on Fifth street in compliment to their niece, Miss McGahee. Miss Dorothy Peacock has planned a luncheon to be followed by bridge on March 19, and on March 26 Miss Ann Bell will be hostess at a luncheon to be given at the Atlanta Athletic Club in honor of the bride-elect.

Misses McGahee, Sarah Fitzpatrick and Martha Knapp will share honors at the breakfast at which Misses Sarah Laney and Calvinie Wilkie will entertain March 27 at the home of the latter on Oxford place.

Mrs. Mary Eunice McGahee will compliment her daughter at a trousseau-tea March 30 at their home on Fifth street. Preceding the wedding rehearsal of Miss McGahee and Mr. Davis on April 1, Miss Florrie Sisson will entertain at a dinner party honoring the betrothed pair.

Fidelis Class Party.

The Fidelis Class of the Virginia Avenue Baptist church entertained at dinner recently at the church in honor of their husbands. The red, white and blue decorations reflected the George Washington birthday motif.

Mrs. W. Milo Price acted as toastmistress. The welcome address was made by the president of the class, Mrs. J. E. Kendrick, and the response was given by Dr. Solomon F. Dowis. Mrs. G. L. Harris, teacher of the class, talked on the loyalty and co-operation of members. The group sang a number of old-fashioned songs, accompanied by Mrs. J. C. Williams, pianist.

Grant Park Club.

Grant Park Woman's Club met recently at the clubhouse on Park avenue. The president, Mrs. W. H. Lee, presided.

The nominating committee includes Mesdames Don Harris, C. J. Dodd, E. J. Armstrong, C. E. Cameron and L. J. McGriff. Mrs. Allen Tison, program chairman, introduced Miss Jessie Laurance, who spoke on "Tallulah Falls School."

Morris Stryon gave piano selections. Mrs. Arthur Stryon sang and gave a reading. Luncheon was served by the hostess, Mrs. E. J. Armstrong, and her committee. Mesdames C. F. McDonald, W. B. Ellington, J. P. Minor and A. S. Stallings.

Prominent Visitors Will Attend Maddox-Smith Bridal Ceremony

Prominent guests from distant cities will come to Atlanta to attend the marriage of Miss Laura Maddox and Edward D. Smith, which will be a brilliant event of April 7, and takes place in the First Methodist church.

Included in the roster are Misses Eunice Holderness, of St. Louis; Miss Emily Alsop, of Boca Raton, Fla., cousins of the bride-elect; Miss Eleanor Whitworth, of Nashville, Tenn., a cousin of the groom-elect; Mrs. Robert F. Jackson, of Nashville; Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Holderness, of St. Louis, Mo., and Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Neilson, of Boca Raton, Fla.

Also, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Jefferson Jr., and Baxter Jackson, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jackson Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Benedict and Charles B. Whitworth, all of Nashville; Mrs. Harrison S. Mathews, of Montgomery, Ala.; Judge and Mrs. J. T. Stokely, of Birmingham, Ala., and Mrs. A. H. Nave, of Knoxville, Tenn.

Mrs. Frank S. Ellis and her granddaughter, Miss Katherine Newman, entertained at luncheon yesterday in compliment to Miss Maddox, at the home of Mrs. Ellis on Montclair drive in Brookwood Hills. The table was overlaid with a Point de Venise lace cloth and a crystal epergure filled with white roses, narcissi and snapdragons beautified the center. Two smaller crystal vases held similar flowers, and crystal candlesticks held white tapers.

A miniature bride dressed in bridal array designated the place of Miss Maddox, and guests' places were marked with cards hand-painted in figures of bridesmaids dressed in pastel-shaded frocks. A bridge game followed the luncheon, and the honor guest received a special gift, and prizes were awarded for consolation and high score.

Mrs. King Feted On Birthday. Mrs. Alexander Campbell King Jr. was hostess yesterday at tea at her home on Peachtree road honoring her mother, Mrs. Alexander Campbell King, in celebration of the latter's birthday anniversary.

The hostess was assisted in entertaining by Mesdames Mitchell King, J. O. King, Charles Dowman, Charles Chalmers, Stanton Threlk, Robert Foreman Jr., Clark Howell Jr., Bruce Woodruff, J. Croon Partridge, Charles Winship, Alex Hitz and Howard Smith Jr.

Misses Betty King and Roberts Crew presided at the punch bowls. Contest prizes were awarded to Miss Alice Henderson, Abie Logan and Donald Beard.

Plans were made for a benefit bridge to be given in the near future.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. Lee Caldwell, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Ray, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miner and Mrs. Evelyn Bealy, Misses Margaret Eberhart, Alice Henderson, Sue Mable, Neil Farrell, Dot Medford, Johnnie Henson, Marjorie Edwards, Mary Eagle and Frances Stallings and Roy Gentry, Edgar Logan, Bill Green, Donald Beard, Abie Logan, Walter Ray and Roy Stallings.

Legion of Service.

Walter Ray and Roy Stallings entertained recently the Legion of Service class of the Log Cabin Sunday school at a George Washington party at the home of Walter Ray on Log Cabin drive.

Contest prizes were awarded to Miss Alice Henderson, Abie Logan and Donald Beard.

Plans were made for a benefit bridge to be given in the near future.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. Lee Caldwell, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Ray, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miner and Mrs. Evelyn Bealy, Misses Margaret Eberhart, Alice Henderson, Sue Mable, Neil Farrell, Dot Medford, Johnnie Henson, Marjorie Edwards, Mary Eagle and Frances Stallings and Roy Gentry, Edgar Logan, Bill Green, Donald Beard, Abie Logan, Walter Ray and Roy Stallings.

Present were Mrs. Charles Hardin, Misses June Biggers, Elizabeth Chambers, Mary Gorman, Frances Melva Henderson, Nell Hatten, Josephine Hughes, Jennie Lee Shuford, Wynell Smith, Marie Storey, Edith Williamson, Martha Mcouth, Vivian Bonner, Marion Martin and Mrs. C. P. Martin.

You Cannot Have a Good Figure Unless Your Posture Is Correct

MY DAY

By Eleanor Roosevelt

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Monday.—I woke this morning to a most dazzling world. The sun was shining brightly, the evergreen boughs were weighted down with snow and the shadows beneath them created intricate patterns. I walked part of the way to the cottage from the big house, where we are staying this week, and, as always, the feet of little animals which have scurried over the snow, reminded me of the various kinds of wild life that burrow deep in this white blanket to find some means of sustenance.

The weather is much colder and everything is frozen, so I think our snow will last for a little while. However, the President drove his own car yesterday and broke out new paths even across the fields. Though I could see anxiety written on the faces of some of those accompanying him, he had a glorious time.

This morning he is out driving around to show some friends building sites. Mrs. Scheider and I have been busy with the mail and the daily routine of work. I expected two callers, but one of them is already 20 minutes late. I rather suspect that, because she lives on a farm a little further up the river, she may be snowed in! The main roads are open, but even our own road through the woods is none too easy to navigate. If you happen to live where the snow can drift on a road, you might easily be inaccessible to the world today!

I did not have space the other day to tell you in detail about some of the citations which were read at the Master Farmers' dinner at Cornell. These citations are moving indeed, for they tell in brief form the history of a man and a woman's achievement. Some of the struggles and victories should inspire us all to keep on no matter how discouraged we may be.

The really thrilling thing is the accomplishments of the young boys and girls. I was impressed above everything else this year with the fact that in several cases the boys were commended for their willingness to accept responsibility. It was stated that when their fathers were away from home, they assumed the responsibility for the work on the farm and proved competent and reliable. One boy, with the help of a hired man, had, during his father's absence, taken entire charge of a herd of 17 cows and at the same time carried on his school work and various personal interests. Another boy, a rural Boy Scout, had headed one of the patrols in Washington, D. C., during their jamboree last year. Two girls had apparently gone out to look for opportunities where they could be of service. One of them made her little speech of acceptance with more ease and poise than any of the boys or men had achieved.

I was impressed particularly with the fact that the opportunity to carry responsibility is something which we should make every effort to give our children.

FRIENDLY COUNSEL

By CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

Dear Miss Chatfield: My mother was a semi-invalid since I can remember and although she lived to hold her grandchildren in her arms, she depended upon me to help her rear the family. After her death the entire care of the home and the family devolved upon me. My father was a gentle soul, the poet-dreamer type who trusted everybody so I was left largely to my own devices and had to work out my problems as best I could.

When very young I fell in love with a boy of poor parents; yet in spite of a crude background he had delicate sensibilities, and was lovable and attractive. Duties at home made it impossible for us to marry at that time and one day he came and asked to be released from the engagement.

Now he is back begging me to forgive him for the hurt he caused me, begging me to marry him right away. My love for him is embittered, but not dead. Deep in my heart I know there will never be another to take his place yet I want to hurt him now as he hurt me then. Please help me to make a sensible decision. EMBITTERED.

Answer: Virginia, that emotional battle between love for a man and a desire to punish him for having hurt you will tear you to pieces unless you begin to use your head. Surely, you have a grand chance to vent your spleen. But what will it net you? You have an equally grand chance to get that bitterness out of your system, renew your romance, marry your old lover and live happily ever afterward.

We have to get along in years to realize that life goes on pretty much the same through the ages: joy alternating with sorrow, pleasure with pain; and the difference between a bitter existence and a sweet one is what's in the individual heart. If we let old hurts, rancor and stand by waiting for an opportunity to get even with one that has hurt us, opportunity will come; but when we take it we don't get rid of the rancor; we increase it.

The sensible thing for you to do (if you are big enough to do it) is to let bygones be bygones, make up with the man, agree never to mention the sore subject. Your love for him and his for you has stood the test of time. If this isn't a firm foundation on which to build a happy marriage, what is? CAROLINE CHATFIELD. lor, I'll be $10 you'll be making $1,000 a week within six months." Bob forgot the incident until a few days ago, when he was drinking coffee at a Sunset Boulevard drug store—and saw his financial prophet behind the counter. The astonished boy received a $10 tip.

William Powell and his ex-wife, Carole Lombard, indulge in another screen romance, for David O. Selznick's "American Beauty."

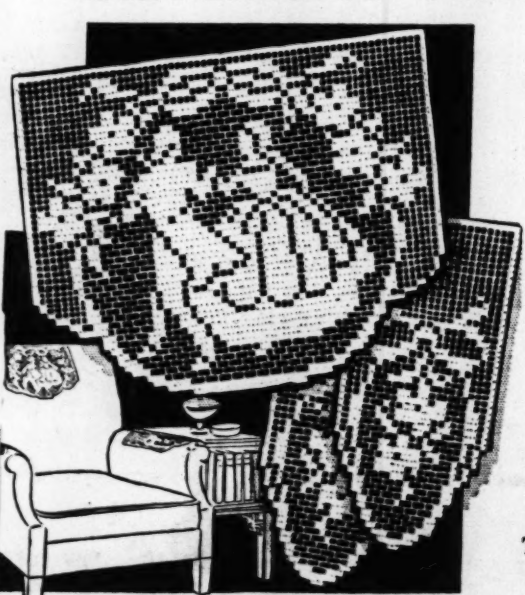

Anatomy notes. Don Ameche shows the entire inside of his mouth when he laughs—which is often. Freddie Bartholomew uses eye glasses for reading. Tyrone Power suffers de la cap for screen emoting. And Piccadilly Henry Daniell keeps his skin soft with periodical facials in a Hollywood beauty shop.

The "Merrily We Live" sneak preview was attended by a gentleman with a hand compometer to clock the audience laughs. Forty-eight above those yielded by "Topper" were recorded. So it should be a good picture.

The recent fight between a producer and an agent reminded this columnist of two well-bred dogs fighting for a luscious bone—the bone, in this case, being the film star. Gary Cooper, Bing Crosby and Carole Lombard have banned photographs of their homes. Ray Milland exhibiting a trick nickel bank and exclaiming, "At last I can save some money."

This Rich Cleansing Cream

Will Also Nourish and Refine

By LILLIAN MAE.

How about your cleansing cream, ladies? You know I insist that you use one, and if your container is on its way toward being empty, take my tip and get a large-sized jar of the brand I am advocating today, while the price is greatly reduced. And if your present supply happens not to be getting low, get a jar of this anyway, for sooner or later you'll be glad you did, at this week's price.

This isn't just an ordinary cleansing cream. And you might not be seriously impressed with it when you look at it, or even when you first apply it. It seems very heavy and not easily absorbed. But just apply it to your face and neck, rubbing it with a massage movement, and soon you'll note it is being absorbed pore deep. It's so creamy that you'll enjoy wearing it a while instead of slapping it on and then off as you—and I—so often do with our cleansing creams.

Used as you will use it, this emulsified cream will smooth the wrinkles you already have, prevent those you haven't, act as a preventive against blackheads and enlarged pores, and leave your complexion much smoother and finer in texture.

So take advantage of the manufacturer's generous offer this week and stock up. Phone me at my office in The Constitution building for the name and the Atlanta stores at which you may purchase the cream.

vitamins were something to smile indulgently about? But better health and slimmer younger people of middle-age have vindicated scientific feeding of the family. Not yet has the necessity of art and beauty in the home been realized fully by the average homemaker. That is the next issue that she will face—she will be expected to bring a knowledge of art, architecture and decoration along with her education in scientific care and feeding of the family.

In short, if the modern woman really does her job properly she'll be so busy and so interested that she'll never think of demanding thanks or apologizing for her career. (Copyright, 1938, for The Constitution.)

Before the job of home-making can be restored to its self-respecting place in the sun, a woman has a lot of thinking to do. The surest way to get out of the blame for the low esteem housewifery enjoys in this generation. For men took away so many of the creative jobs of the home (spinning, weaving, sewing, making rugs and bedding and soap and candles, etc.). In the same breath men handed us marvelous labor-saving equipment, and at about that time families began to get smaller.

Naturally there were adjustments to make. The sudden alleviation of the actual labor of home-making sent many women into business, and they looked very glamorous in their trim tailcoats and with money to spend. The woman left at home began to apologize for being "just a housewife" and "engaged to do something interesting." Gone was the hearty pride she once took in setting the best table, putting out the whitest wash, sewing the finest seam.

In adjusting herself to this new picture, the home woman faces her greatest challenge. For she must bring so much more to her job than ever has been demanded of her before. She must use the time once spent on producing essentials (spinning or lard making or baking) on the art and science of home-making.

The average home-maker has accepted this challenge in the member how our mothers used to sniff at the idea of bringing up a baby by the book! But better babies have proved the wisdom of the method. And remember when

Who wants to be danced with for politeness' sake? Not Eileen. She wanted to rate a cut-in every few yards—so she taught herself to dance exquisitely—from simple diagrams. Now, when the orchestra swings into a Westchester or slow foxtrot, her p-f-ct rhythm and sense of balance make the other girls look like sticks and bring her a swarm of partners. Yet it's simple to do this popular dance well, once you resolve to get out of the dull class. Roll back the rugs, turn on the radio and with your eye on the diagram step out with the left foot on count 1—heel first as in an ordinary walking step. Now quickly transfer your weight to the ball of the foot and on, and, step forward on the ball of the right foot. On 2, step forward again on the left foot—heel first. As you practice, listen closely to the music to get the feel of the rhythm—and then on to the

HEALTH TALKS

By DR. WILLIAM BRADY.

NO MORE GUINEA PIGS.

Recently we issued a call for five thousand human guinea pigs, on whom we wished to try an experiment. Never mind now just what the experiment was—we'd rather hear no more about it.

Considerably more than five thousand readers responded but in spite of their professed willingness to serve as guinea pigs for the purposes of the experiment they generally betrayed their human nature after all. That is, they insisted on presenting a search history or on having their medical made through the archives to find something they believed was printed here last Octanuary or even a written guarantee from me that the experiment would involve no risk to the heart, nerves or something.

These eight thousand or more have brought me more grief than ten times their number of honest-to-goodness correspondents have ever given me.

Never again. Pigs is pigs and folks is folks. They do these things better abroad. For instance, in 1926, Dr. H. C. Corry Mann, experimented with six groups of school boys in an English institution for poor boys. One group received the regular diet of the institution; another received additional sugar equivalent in calorie value to a pint of milk (that is, a little less than three ounces of sugar daily); still another group received New Zealand butter from grass fed cows to give them the same number of calories as a pint of milk (that is, about 1 1/2 ounces of butter daily); and so on, with one group of boys receiving in addition to the regular institution diet, a pint of milk daily.

The group of boys on the regular diet of the institution without any supplementary feeding gained during the four-year period of observation an average per year of 3.85 pounds and 1.84 inches. The group receiving extra protein in the form of casein showed no difference in growth. The group receiving extra sugar grew no faster but showed a slightly greater gain in weight. The group receiving the extra butter showed a slightly increased rate of growth in height and in weight. But the group of boys receiving a pint of milk daily showed an average gain of 6.98 pounds and 2.63 inches a year.

The results of the experiment would have been the same, no doubt, no matter what foods or combinations of foods the different groups received, for it is thoroughly and unquestionably established that milk is the most nearly perfect, or the most suitable and most digestible food in the dietary of mankind. Milk belongs at the very top of the list of health foods.

Your Figure, Madame

By IDA JEAN KAIN.

CORRECT POSTURE IS ALL IN YOUR BACKBONE.

We have all heard of the square peg in the round hole, and this season the fashion quandary is to fit round, sloping shoulders into square shouldered frocks.

Anyone who looks a second time—and if they don't, where are you—is bound to detect the sloping line of coat hanger shoulders beneath the padding of your frock. The two factors which cause round shoulders are physiological and psychological. The first is a weakness of the back muscles and may be due to underdevelopment, occupational slump, or that habitually tired feeling. On the other hand, your slumping may be entirely psychological in origin. A feeling of inferiority can make you huddle about yourself defensively instead of walking with your head up and your shoulders back.

Let's start inside. Stand as if you were three inches taller than you are, reaching up with the top of your head. Throw the weight forward on the toes. Fling the arms out from the sides and get a two-way stretch. Feel all those cramped muscles stir and wake up. You are seven feet tall and still growing! If you will stretch like this several times a day, you ly posture unless your back muscles are up to it. A few simple exercises will strengthen these muscles and do marvelous things for your posture. Try the following:

Lie on your back and put your elbows on the floor straight out from the shoulders. Press down on the elbows as high as you can. Do not let your head poke forward. Roll over on the stomach, grasp the hands behind the back and pull up hard with arms and head. This exercise should be avoided by those who have a tendency to sway back. The exercises in the leaflet, "Posture Makes the Figure," deal with all types of posture problems.

In walking, the main thing to remember is to walk as tall as possible, pulling up with the lower abdominal muscles, up with the chest, and up with the top of the head. In this elongated position, your figure cannot possibly get out of line. Do not try to hold your tummy in—hold it up. Let the chest rise, rather than the chin.

A good posture exercise—easy to take, and to look at.

will be surprised how much it rests you. Another convenient posture exercise is to clasp the hands behind the hips and pull the shoulders back, hard. This gives you the feel of standing straight and tall and the mirror will tell you how much better you look.

All right... relax. You've got a slight pain between your shoulders, but it's a nice pain. It means you have waked up drowsy muscles that have been indulging their laziness behind your back and spoiling your figure. You cannot hope to hold a love-

Lillian Mae Styles

FRESH FLOWER PRINTS LEAD IN CHARM AND FLATTERY FOR AFTERNOON.

Nothing can get you into a gay spring mood quite as fast as a pretty flowered dress like this one from Pattern 4725. And if you want flattery, too, then it's unquestionably the perfect style for you. Soft, simple lines, which always come into their own at this time of year, are found in the graceful flared sleeves and in the prettily draped jabot. The dress may be made to look equally smart with puffed sleeves and a bow at the neck. Attractive fullness in the bodice is cleverly controlled by the smooth-fitting yoke. The paneled lines of the skirt add height to your figure and seem to take inches off your hips. Pattern 4725 is available in women's sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 36 takes 3 5/8 yards 39-inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

Send 15c in coins for this Lillian Mae Pattern. Do not send stamps. Write plainly size, name, address and style number.

What clothes are smartest for spring? The new Lillian Mae Pattern Book will show you! Order your copy today and see its practical suggestions for your wardrobe! Dainty afternoon frocks, trim suits, and ensembles! Flattery for the matron... an alluring tulle dress for the bride... Graduation dresses for the junior! Kiddie outfits, too. All from easy-to-use patterns! Price of book 15 cents.

YOU CAN BE A GRACEFUL DANCER BY TEACHING YOURSELF AT HOME

A GOOD DANCER IS NEVER A WALLFLOWER

Who wants to be danced with for politeness' sake? Not Eileen. She wanted to rate a cut-in every few yards—so she taught herself to dance exquisitely—from simple diagrams.

Now, when the orchestra swings into a Westchester or slow foxtrot, her p-f-ct rhythm and sense of balance make the other girls look like sticks and bring her a swarm of partners.

Yet it's simple to do this popular dance well, once you resolve to get out of the dull class. Roll back the rugs, turn on the radio and with your eye on the diagram step out with the left foot on count 1—heel first as in an ordinary walking step. Now quickly transfer your weight to the ball of the foot and on, and, step forward on the ball of the right foot. On 2, step forward again on the left foot—heel first.

As you practice, listen closely to the music to get the feel of the rhythm—and then on to the airy balance which makes you tops as a partner in any kind of dance. Swing legs from the hips, take long skimming steps. Going forward, let the heel take the weight first; going backward, reach as far as you can with your big toe.

And how are you on the other popular dances? The tango, waltz, rumba? Easy to learn them with diagrams to show you the basic steps, how to count and place your feet. Better brush up on them, for it's knowing your basic steps well that makes you easy to lead, responsive to every step and turn.

Our 40-page booklet, "Social Dancing Self-Taught," gives step-by-step directions and diagrams by a well-known teacher. Waltz, rumba, fox-trot, tango variations.

Send 15 cents for our booklet, SOCIAL DANCING SELF-TEACHED, to Home Institute, The Constitution, Atlanta, Ga. Write plainly your name, address and the name of booklet.

Benefit Bridge Party To Be Given Friday at Atlanta Woman's Club

A benefit bridge party will be given at the Atlanta Woman's Club on Friday under the auspices of the garden division of the club. Mrs. L. C. Morris is the chairman. The committee on prizes is Mrs. T. J. Ripley and the co-chairmen are Miss Byrd Blankinship and Mrs. H. R. Parsons. A review of "The Citadel" will be given by Miss May King for the pleasure of those who do not play bridge. Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Ripley at Hemlock 1773-J, or by calling Mrs. Bacon, the club hostess, at Hemlock 4636.

At a recent meeting of the garden division of the club, Mrs. John D. Evans, president of the Fifth District of the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs, spoke on "Bulbs and Perennials." She said that "each bulb contains a blossom in miniature and a pantry of necessities for the infant bloom. Gladioli should be planted now, and jonquils should not have the foliage cut if they are to grow in strength and beauty for the following year. Tulips should not be allowed to fade on the stem, but should be cut."

WILLKIE'S NAME ENTERS OHIO QUIZ

P. S. Arkwright Said To Have Been Inclined To Aid Governor's Campaign.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Feb. 22.—

(P)—The name of Wendell Willkie, New York utilities executive, entered testimony today before an Ohio senate committee which has been investigating state purchases and purported contributions to the 1934 campaign of Governor Martin L. Davey.

Lee Bradley—57-year-old asphalt salesman who faces a perjury charge filed by Governor Davey because of his previous testimony that he arranged for automobile manufacturers to contribute to the campaign—presented scores of letters he said were exchanged between himself and Davey.

Letter Displayed.

Bradley showed a letter he said he had written to Paul Davey, the Governor's brother, from Atlanta, May 1, 1934. The letter said P. S. Arkwright, president of the Georgia Power Company, was more disposed to make a campaign contribution than to give the Davey Tree Expert Company a tree-trimming contract, because the Davey company would get the money quicker as a gift. The letter added, however, that Arkwright said he would prefer to "get the lowdown from Wendell Willkie first."

Bradley said he suggested that Martin L. Davey see Willkie in New York and approve "anything Arkwright wanted to do," and Bradley asserted he attended a conference with Willkie and Davey.

When he asked Willkie for introductions to Commonwealth and Southern subsidiary officials, Bradley said, Willkie professed to dislike letters but gave him names of executives he wanted to meet.

ARKWRIGHT DENIES CONTRIBUTION CHARGE

By The Associated Press.

Testimony before an Ohio senate committee that Preston S. Arkwright, president of the Georgia Power Company, had indicated he might make a contribution to the campaign fund of Governor Davey, was denied today by Arkwright.

Arkwright said the Georgia Power Company did not contribute any money, directly or indirectly, to the Ohio Governor's campaign fund.

"The Georgia Power Company," Arkwright said, "had employed the Davey Tree Expert Company for tree-trimming work over a long period of years, beginning before the Commonwealth and Southern Corporation was formed and before I had ever had any personal acquaintance with Mr. Willkie."

"Mr. Bradley did come to see me in Atlanta about May 1, 1934. I did not give him any work for the Davey Tree Expert Company then, nor has this company given the Davey Tree Expert Company any work from that day to this, nor did the company contribute or offer to contribute any money directly or indirectly to Governor Davey's campaign fund."

DISEASE PROBLEMS TO BE DISCUSSED

State Public Health Association Convenes Tomorrow.

The health problems of Georgia, including malaria, hookworm, typhus fever, maternal and child hygiene and venereal diseases, will be discussed at the annual convention of the Georgia Public Health Association, to be held for three days beginning tomorrow at the Biltmore hotel.

Speakers at the convention will be men and women prominent in national health circles. The sessions will close Saturday morning.

Speakers are Dr. J. N. Baker, public health officer of Alabama; Dr. C. E. Waller, assistant surgeon general of the United States Public Health Service; Dr. Martha Elliot, assistant chief of the United States Children's Bureau; and Miss Nadine B. Geitz, public health nursing consultant of the American Social Hygiene Association.

LETTER CARRIERS MAP CHANGES FOR CHARTER

MAON, Feb. 22.—(P)—Officers and a special committee of the Georgia Rural Letter Carriers Association, in session here today, discussed several minor changes in the constitution to be presented to the state convention in Atlanta June 18.

Also in session were officers of the women's auxiliary, who planned the year's work.

'KIDNAPED' GIRL
RETURNS TO HOME*Ruth Jones' Parents Cannot Explain Disappearance.

Ruth Jones, 16-year-old Commercial High school student, who disappeared last Friday night a week after she had been "kidnaped" because "she knew too much," returned to her home on Glenwood avenue yesterday.

The girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Jones, could offer no explanation as to the reason for their daughter's disappearance and said last night that "they hoped Ruth would not leave home again."

Detective P. E. Jones said that the girl would be questioned.

OLD COLONEL IS RADIO FAVORITE*Mrs. Charlotte Foster Says, "I Wish I Had Taken His Advice Sooner."

"I listen to the 'Old Colonel' radio program at 8 o'clock every morning over WGST, and if I had put more faith in what he said I could have saved myself so much discomfort and quite a little money," said Mrs. Charlotte Foster, 89 Fourteenth street, Atlanta, Ga., recently. Continuing, Mrs. Foster said, "For the past several years I have suffered with colds and coughs which hung on afterward. Just a month ago I took a very bad cold and the cough was terrible. After trying several other remedies I decided to take the Old Colonel's advice and I telephoned my druggist and ordered a 75c bottle of Menthon-Mulsion. When it arrived I took a dose immediately although I thought to myself that it would probably be just like all the rest. To my surprise and relief Menthon-Mulsion helped my cough at once and my throat felt very much better. It really acted almost like magic. So when the Old Colonel makes the announcements about Menthon-Mulsion over the radio, you certainly can believe every word of them."—(adv.)

Just "any old cool" won't do
for Stokers

If your automatic stoker is not functioning properly, it is likely due to the wrong kind of fuel.

It is not true that "any old coal" will do for stokers. For best results it should be specially prepared — the right kind, the right size, plus hot oil treated to insure cleanliness.

Creese special processed stoker coal is best for all automatic firing. Try it and see the difference.

GOODWILL BOMBERS
ARRIVE AT SANTIAGO*Sixth Plane Follows 'Flying Fortresses' High Over Andes on Flight.

SANTIAGO, Chile, Feb. 22.—(P)—Five of Uncle Sam's huge "flying fortresses" roared high across the Andes and swooped down on Los Cerrillos airbase here today for an overnight stop en route home.

On their tails came the sixth ship of the "good-will" flight group. The sixth ship landed at 4:45 p. m., Atlanta time. This plane was delayed for five hours in the takeoff this morning from Buenos Aires because one of its wheels broke the concrete surface covering an underground gasoline tank at El Palomar military air base.

The group of big bombers was scheduled to take off tomorrow for Lima, Peru, on the next leg of its return trip.

WORKERS AT ROOSEVELT
NUPTIAL HOME STRIKE

NAHANT, Mass., Feb. 22.—(UP)—Labor trouble caused a short delay today in the work on the summer home where Miss Anne Lindsay Clark and President Roosevelt's son, John, will hold their wedding reception in June.

Twelve carpenters and plasterers struck for three hours because two non-union carpenters were hired. The two men were ordered off the job after a conference and work resumed.

Keep your kidneys free from waste matter, poisons and acid, and put healthy activity into kidneys and bladder and you'll live a healthier, happier and longer life.

One most efficient and harmless way to do this is to get from your druggist a 25-cent box of Gold Medal Harlem Oil Capsules and take them as directed—the swift results will surprise you.

Besides getting up nights, some symptoms of kidney trouble are backache, moist palms, leg cramps, and puffy eyes. GOLD MEDAL—the original and genuine—a grand kidney stimulant and diuretic—right from Harlem in Holland. Give your kidneys a good cleaning once in a while.—(adv.)

Poetry Glorifies
Frank L. Stanton
On 81st BirthdayGeorgians throughout the state yesterday commemorated the 81st birthday of their first poet laureate—
Frank L. Stanton.

School children from Rabun Gap to Tybee Light sang his songs and people in various walks of life proclaimed his greatness at special meetings.

Thomas Jefferson Flanagan, Atlanta negro poet, paid tribute to the famous Georgian by writing a special poem dedicated to him.

Recognized as one of the great poets the south has produced, Mr. Stanton was a member of The Constitution staff for almost 40 years. He is remembered especially for his poems on the quaint philosophy and dialect of the old-time negro.

Flanagan's contribution follows:

We gather 'round the fireside, "an' praise God for the heat,"
The wind whistles down the chimney, but
"ain't the roses sweet?"
He left in wreaths of glory when the green came on the grass,
And the breezes tol' the dogwood—to
"Let Miss Linda Pass."

The songs pour in from Scotland an' the Irish minstrel sways
His lute on the lakeside in love's transcendent lays;
And laureates from old England pass in symphony's review,
But none can quench that thirsting, "Jes a-Wearyin' Fer You."

Oh, his songs are springs eternal and the apple blossom blows
Above old Georgia's commons—he made
"Mighty Lak a Rose!"
He made Georgia belles the sweetest, and if there's a doubtin' class,
Just wait until the April "En Let Miss Linda Pass."

760-POUND STEER
WINS SHOW AWARD*David R. Lilienthal To Address Farm Youth in Augusta Today.

AUGUSTA, Feb. 22.—(P)—Joe Louis, a 760-pound Aberdeen-Angus steer owned by Valda Robbins, 17-year-old Sylvania high school student, was named grand champion of the second annual Augusta fat cattle show and sale today.

Tonight, approximately 400 farmers, owners of entries, county agents, farm and livestock specialists, and show officials were entertained at a banquet at which John R. Phillips, of Louisville, was the principal speaker.

Tomorrow has been designated as farm youth day, and more than 7,000 youths from the 24 counties comprising membership in the Twin States Livestock Association, augmented by the 15,000 pupils of the Richmond county school system, will parade through Augusta's main streets.

The parade will be followed by a speech by David R. Lilienthal, director of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

A barbecue will complete the festivities.

Winners of awards today were: Four-H individual contests: Class A, Carey Robbins, Screven county; Class B, Valda Robbins, Screven county; Class C, J. Dan Smith Jr., Richmond county.

Four-H Club pens of three steers: Class A, Francis Bowen, Greene county; Class B, D. A. Shelley, Edgely county; Class C, J. Dan Smith Jr., Richmond county.

Pens of three steers, open ring: Class A, W. C. Bryan, Alameda county; Class B, C. F. Patten, Jenkins county; Class C, E. Patten, Jenkins county.

F. F. A. individual prize winners: Class A, O. G. Emory, Columbia county; Class B, Grant Moseley, Toombs county; Class C, Hugh Harrison, Johnson county.

Valda Robbins, Screven county, first place for best individual home-grown steer.

Car lot class: Walter Rarul, Lexington, first prize.

Negro 4-H Club class prize: Elijah O. Griffin.

Best fitted steer was owned by J. Dan Smith Jr.

OFFICE IS ABOLISHED,

ROME, Feb. 22.—First Commissioner H. H. Keel stated here today that the office of city purchasing agent was abolished by the city commission this morning, as a move toward economy. Lamar "Pinkney" Talley has held the office since it was set up when the present administration took office in January, 1937.

Here is the man for County Commissioner

Mr. Taxpayer, do you realize that in view of the home-stead exemption law Fulton County revenue will be materially reduced? In order to prevent an increase in the tax rate it is imperative that the affairs of the county be handled with the highest possible efficiency. Mr. Ewing has the qualification to serve the people of Fulton County in this important office.

Vote for J. H. Ewing for County Commissioner on March 2nd.

HARTSFIELD OPENS
CLEAN-UP DRIVE*Mayor Urges Owners of City Property To Help Support Law.

A city-wide clean-up of vacant lots to improve property values and beautify Atlanta was launched yesterday by Mayor Hartsfield and H. J. Cates, head of the sanitary department.

Hartsfield, in a formal statement, urged Atlanta property owners to co-operate with Cates in enforcing the recently passed law authorizing the sanitary department to have vacant lots kept clean and sanitary.

A survey of a vacant property which is a unsightly or dangerous to the community health, already has been started by Cates and his staff, and notices to owners to clear the lots of debris or face court charges will be sent out soon.

The legislature at its special session amended the city charter to allow the sanitary department to clean lots and bill the owners after furnishing proof in recorder's court that the condition of the vacant lots constitutes a nuisance.

The movement was started by the Atlanta Federation of Women's Clubs, of which Mrs. J. R. Little is president.

Hartsfield's proclamation follows:

"To the citizens of Atlanta: Whereas, by a recent act of the legislature, authority was given the sanitary department of the city of Atlanta to have all vacant lots kept clean and sanitary; and whereas, vacant lots covered with tin cans, weeds, vines and general debris, are not only unsightly but constitute a menace to health; and

"Whereas, this legislation and effort to enforce it has the approval of the organized women's clubs of Atlanta;

"Therefore, I urge the owners of vacant property to co-operate with the sanitary department in abating these nuisances in an effort to improve the value of both residential and business property as well as to beautify the city."

Many Lots Dangerous.

Cates explained that many weed and vine-covered lots are dangerous because they supply places for mosquitoes to breed and hide.

Mrs. Little and the clubwomen already have been campaigning for cleaner streets and yards. They solicited the aid of thousands of housewives. The result has been that the city is cleaner and more beautiful now than ever before, Cates said.

The sanitary chief said he has noted a "vast improvement" since the Federation of Women's Clubs began their campaign.

He expects to begin work of cleaning vacant lots which are declared nuisances within a few weeks, he said yesterday.

Cates announced also that he has purchased covers for all city sanitary and garbage trucks, as recommended by Dr. Thomas H. Reed, municipal expert who made a survey of governmental needs in the city and county.

LIGHT RAIN TO VISIT CITY TODAY, FORECAST

Mostly cloudy with occasional light rain is an Atlanta's weather menu for today, the Candler Field Weather Bureau said last night.

"There is not much cold in sight but it will be cooler tonight after the rains," the observer said.

The low mercury reading this morning will be approximately 48 degrees, the weatherman said. Yesterday the temperatures ranged between 52 and 44 degrees.

Fingerprints Bare Record of 'Novice'

AUGUSTA, Feb. 22.—"I've never been in trouble before," a man listed as R. B. Price told Judge Gordon Chambers after being sentenced to six months' imprisonment following his conviction on charges of passing a worthless check and beating a board bill.

Jailer Luke Wilkins, however, was not satisfied, so took Price's fingerprints.

The FBI reported to Jailer Wilkins that the fingerprints tallied with those of R. G. Conner, escaped convict from the North Carolina state prison, where he was serving two years on a forgery conviction.

ROME ASKS BACKING
FOR DAM PROPOSAL*Reservoir Project North of Cartersville Would Cost
$4,000,000.

ROME, Feb. 22.—A movement was launched here today to obtain concerted support by cities along the Coosa-Alabama river system of the proposed Allatoona dam and reservoir flood control project above Rome on the Etowah river.

Operation of federal officials was assured in letters received by City Attorney Chastain Parker.

With the $391,080 fourth ward flood control levee project already authorized and about to get under way, the city commission renewed the fight for the plan advanced several years ago, under which a dam and reservoir would be built a few miles north of Cartersville near the Allatoona creek junction with the Etowah, at a cost of about $4,000,000.

The Rome Chamber of Commerce began mailing copies of the Rome city commission's resolution on the project today to cities located along the river system, asking Chambers of Commerce, other civic organizations and city officials in each locality to lend active support to the plan.

Colonel Richard Park, United States district engineer at Mobile, is making a study of the plan, a survey of the proposed project having been completed by army engineers.

Both Senators Walter F. George and Richard B. Russell Jr. have written City Attorney Chastain Parker they will actively support the movement to have the Etowah project authorized.
